EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

OHIO declares for her own noble son, Senator Sherman

THE result in Texas was surprising to the Prohibitionists.

BOTH the President and his wife complain because people look at them. That's silly.

JUST as we said—James G. Blaine will not return from Europe until his trip is ended.

MORE ruffianism is reported from Rowan county, Kentucky. The Blue Grass State is becoming sadlybesmirched by its lawless gangs.

THE Volunteer is the name of a new American boat which will outsail any sea-craft which the English can send over here. She is said to be a daisy.

CHILDREN see their mothers pour oil on the fire and try the experiment in her absence. The usual result follows. Another illustration of the force of example.

PARDORA WARSLEY, who was known as the Union spy of the Shenandoah," died at Fosterbrook, New York, last week. His services during the war were valuable.

DISTRESSINGLY dry weather is reported from the Northwest, but occasional rainfalls east of the Mississippi river give hope that the drought may soon come to an end.

Two hundred Mormons want to leave Salt Lake City and settle in the Northwest Territory, belonging to the Dominion government. Glad to have them to do so, if the Dominion Government don't object.

A THOROUGH canvass of the state by local speakers is one of the means suggested to bring the Republican voters to the polls in New York State this year. The New York Republicans appear to be determined to make themselves felt this year.

GERMAN authorities will not listen to the suggestion that French mineral waters should be used by the Crown Prince for his malady. They cannot endure the thought that he might acquire a taste for anything French. It is seldom that National antagonism runs to such an extreme.

THE Democratic ring masters are wonderfully cunning. They led the rank and file to believe that W. A. Ishler was their candidate for sheriff. But the lucky candidate was heard thanking the ring masters very profusely for their service in his behalf. Ishler's candidacy was only a blind.

NOTWITHSTANDING President Cleveland suggested that invitation committees should not call on him this hot weather, but send their invitations in the regular 2-cent-stamp style, the citizens of Memphis invaded his August presence the other day. He said he and Mrs. C. would visit Memphis if possible.

SOME false and very damaging stories were circulated about John Q. Miles, the most prominent defeated Democratic candidate for sheriff. These stories were told just before the convention, but seem to have had their effect. To what desperate things the ring will resort to defeat anyone not entirely in sympathy with them.

SECRETARY FAIRCHILD'S views on the civil service will be read with much interest, possibly with criticism by members of his political party. He finds that the party which has no policy but spoils falls to fighting itself as soon as the rank and file ascertain that there are not as many offices to fill as there are members of the party.

CANADA does not relish the idea of Mormons settling in that country. Defaulting cashiers can be tolerated, but boodlers are questionable and Mormons positively objectionable. The Latter Day Saints should try South America or some of the islands in the Pacific ocean. English-speaking America has become uncongenial.

No Politics in the Grand Army.

There is one thing that the writer of this will always resent, and that is an attack upon the Grand Army of the Republic. We have personal reasons for so doing, because every male member of our family, old enough at the time, engaged in the desperate conflict of which the veterans are a constant reminder. Therefore, we look upon the survivors of the war as among those deserving the highest honor the country can bestow. Anyone who has the least appreciation of the desperate toils, marches and sufferings which these brave men were compelled to undergo will agree with us. Those who do not are entirely destitute of patriotism, and are not worthy to claim citizenship of the Republic. We cannot understand the condition of moral and intellectual degradation which prompts certain parties to continue attacks on the Grand Army. We ask—Are not such persons worse than the original rebels? We are inclined to reply affirmatively, because—The war is ended; the foe is forgiven; the boys in blue have behaved and are behaving themselves magnanimously. Nothing can exceed the sublime and attractive picture presented of a country, twenty-two years ago so rent and torn with internal conflict, now enjoying peace, prosperity and fraternity.

These were important days to each participant—not so much because of the results achieved as of their thrilling experiences. United in defense of their country, they proved themselves true patriots. The memories of those days have led them to unite in the G. A. R. just as graduates of a College form an alumni association. The latter is not condemned, but the former has its bitter enemies. They are persons who hate the sight of a blue uniformed soldier; who cannot appreciate patriotism; who are ready to undo the blood-bought victories; who are anxious to restore to the Rebels all that was taken from them. Such we believe are the individuals now impugning the objects of this organization and charging to it political purposes. There is a fellow in Williamsport particularly prominent in making these charges, which prove delightful and acceptable material to the Watchman for republication.

Every man of ordinary sense knows that there are provisions in the constitution of the order diametrically oppose to the introduction of politics. We are willing to trust the men who fought to maintain the constitution of the United States. They will obey the rules which prescribe their actions. Of course, when, according to Divine teaching there must be tares mingled with the wheat even in the church, much less can any institution of earthly origin hope to escape unfaithful or misguided members. But to criticise an order because of the actions of one or two individuals is manifestly unfair and unjust. The Grand Army of the Republic is an organization which every good citizen should encourage. Its defamers are unworthy an audience.

THE refusal of the Tory Government to submit to the House of Commons a list of the royal princes and other persons allied to royalty by marriage, who draw salaries in the British service, together with a return showing the number of officers who have been passed over because of these appointments, has a peculiar significance both for England and the United States. The precedence given to members of the nobility, and the nepotism of the Queen's relatives, have developed a favoritism which has been made a target by many of the advanced Liberals in their denunciations of the British social system, and unless some remedy should be offered in the near future, the matter will assume very grave importance. To Americans the refusal is significant as a rebuke to those Civil Service Reformers who imagine everything English to be the perfection of administrative methods. The recent scandals in the London War Office, though promptly screened from public view, were sufficiently exposed to show a refinement of corruption superior in impudence to the gravest of charges against officers at Washington. The much-boasted regularity of promotion in the British service is now confessed by the Tory leader in the House of Commons to be the sham that it is. It is about time that this Anglo-mania should be abandoned and that our reformers should look at home for something worthy at least of endorsement, if not of admiration and prostrate homage.

Washington News.

The special correspondent of this paper, in Washington, D. C., under date August 8, writes:

If the Democratic party is responsible for anything it certainly is the government of the District of Columbia and the city of Washington both being almost under the direct control of Mr. Cleveland himself; yet, this is the only place in the United States where the people have boldly met in public, denounced these rulers as corrupt and inefficient and demanded their resignation or removal at the hands of the President, as the penalty for their misgovernment. The City and District are governed by three Commissioners, who were appointed by President Cleveland; and ever since their advent to power, affairs have gone from bad to worse; one of the Commissioners has bought a $500 horse and other personal property at public expense; but, what has given greatest dissatisfaction is the advance in water rates and the discovery that the water accounts are in a confused condition, giving rise to the conviction that there is crookedness in that department. Then the Commissioners have promulgated new and unnecessary city ordinances, the enforcement of which are inconvenient and vexatious to the citizens, besides, being burdensome to the poorer class of people. The charges against the Commissioners are before the President and his action is awaited with much interest.

The scales are beginning to fall from the wondering eyes of the civil-service reformers, and many of these goodly men now sadly realize that they have been misguided into believing that the mere shadow of reform was its substance.

Mr. Geo. Wm. Curtis, the Grand Mogul of the Mugwumps, for a moment shakes off the gloom and grief that enshrouds him, to confess his disappointment at the untoward result of his experiment with Nast's 'Democratic tiger,' yet, like the true devotee that he is, he still clings to Cleveland, his fallen idol, with the consoling reflection that it might have been worse; Mr. Curtis finds that the civil-service act applies to about 14,000 of the 115,000 Federal offices; that there are some 58,000 leading offices, with patronage to dispense and that in the twenty-nine months of Cleveland's Administration he had appointed 48,000 Democrats in these places, a record that tells its own story

Mr. Kepler, the gifted artist of "Puck", has been in Washington this week, it is said with the avowed object of straightening out the kinks in "reform" and capturing the scalp of the offending Higgins, but, I fear he has met with little encouragement.

The bond circular of Secretary Fairchild, while harmless of itself, may well be regarded as a storm signal by the financial world, chargeable to the unsound fiscal policy of the Democracy in impotently permitting the accumulation of the vast Treasury surplus. In considering Mr. Fairchild's action and the reasons he gives therefor, I can but conclude that the young Secretary is a guileless financier who has yet to cut his eye teeth.

The Treasury Department reports for the month of July a decrease of $6,663,748 in cash on hand, and an increase of $4,047,133 in the circulation—the former being chiefly in gold certificates and the latter in standard silver dollars and certificates; there was a decrease in the circulation of national bank-notes.

Another Treasury scandal is in the air--something like the Harvey affair--though efforts are being made to cover it up by Controller Durham, who denies it. To state the matter briefly, it appears that through the ignorance or negligence of the Treasury officials a big batch of California land surveying accounts that were paid many years ago have been worked over and paid again. When interviewed upon the frauds, Com'er Sparks was decidedly non-committal and his manner was such as to impress one with the truthfulness of the charge. Full details cannot now be given. It is no secret that the Controller and the Commissioner have long been at logger-heads officially.

Bacon's bondsmen have notified the Government that they are ready to make good his alleged shortage as soon as the amount is certified to officially. About twenty patent Attorneys of the District of Cofumbia who borrowed $5000 from the late financial clerk and failed to repay it, have been duly warned that unless they refund the sum at once it will be deemed a sufficient reason to debar them from further practice before the Interior Department.

There was a scion and a few sprigs of royalty all the way from Siam in the Capital a few days since; they were formally received by the President, with the usual interchange of commonplace courtesies incident to such an occasion. The Prince, whose name I dare not write, for fear of the possible injury it might inflict upon the jaws of my readers, was favorably impressed and pronounced Washington a more beautiful city than his own Capital; he took among his souveniers some of the photographs of Mrs. Cleveland and, chips from the Washington Monument.

No Division.

Are the Republicans of Centre county united? There seem to be some divisions among them. Why there are we cannot conceive, as there is every incentive to unity.

We fear that there is a misunderstanding and that because of such misapprehension the party is suffering injury. The Republicans in the country imagine that the town Republicans are opposed to them, and, vice versa, those in Bellefonte look with some distrust on their rural political brethren. This is a grave mistake. We think that Republicans in all sections of the country are willing to bury their separate ambitions for the party's good. What is needed is greater faith in each member of the party. The party can hope to win only by presenting a united front to the enemy. Then, heal all differences; let one section cease finding fault with another, and remember that there is a great and important object to attain.

Let victory be the watchword.

PRESIDENT GRANT, in his eight years of office, as the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette shows, vetoed only six private pension bills, and of these five were vetoed in the interest of the claimants, and the sixth case was that of a deserter. President Hayes and Arthur each signed all the private pension bills passed while they were in office. In other words, during sixteen years of Republican administration, there was only one veto of a private pension bill which was not in the interest of the claimant, and in that case the claimant was a deserter. Mr. Cleveland in two years vetoed 119 private pension bills. At this rate, the sixteen years of Republican administration, ought to have resulted in 852 vetoes; or, expressing it differently, the ratio of vetoes under Mr. Cleveland, as compared with that under his predecessors, is as 952 to 1. Mr. Cleveland's admirers may find this comparison satisfactory, but they ought not to expect veteran soldiers to be exultant and grateful over it.—Harrisburg Call.

IN view of the lively competition between towns in the eastern part of Pennsylvania to secure silk mills, it is instructive to note what Robert P. Porter writes from England concerning the decline of the silk industry in London. He found in Spitalfields an old weaver an son, who, working from six in the morning till ten at night, earned about $5 a week between them. The elder recalled the time when they earned from $15 to $20. The cause of the decline was first the reciprocity treaty with France, then free trade, which allowed the competition of the cheap labor of Germany, and finally the craze for cheap and inferior goods. Before this the weavers of the East end of London used annually 12,000,000 pounds of silk; now they use 3,000,000. The growth of the silk industry in the United States cotemporaneous with the decay of it in England is one of the interesting facts of the time.

THERE is said to be exactly $337,000,000 locked up in the U. S. Treasury and bearing no interest. We are not like many people in experiencing a dislike to have this money on hand, and would not want an accummulating surplus to cease in any other way than by reduction of internal revenue. To remove or reduce any import duties would be suicidal in the extreme. But it is unnecessary to keep this money inactive. Pay off the war debt and thus prevent future interest. Let the United States government become the banker for the Nation. Purchase the telegraph systems and let the government carry our telegrams as it carries our mails. In fact, we could dispose of this money in many different ways which would accrue to the interest of the country.

A Sample Ticket.

As it is always, just after a Democratic county convention, there are a great many disappointed ones and when the convention adjourned on Tuesday they were all mad and declared vehemently that they would have revenge and that the Republicans had now a chance to elect their ticket. Of course, they claim those that secured nominations obtained success through the manipulations of the ring and it is time the ring was rebuked. We were buttonholed as usual fifty times by these malcontents who gave us this very valuable information, viz: "Now, Tuten, if you fellows don't elect your ticket this time it will be your own fault. You can count on me I will do what I can to defeat this Bellefonte Ring and there are lots who will do the same. This is the weakest ticket ever put in the field. Now, mind what I tell you—this ticket is going to be defeated." We may add here that many of these fellows were fixed up in less than four hours after the convention adjourned. The balance, no doubt, will be all right before election time. A Democrat is like his party—if he gets an opinion he does not keep it over night.

The fact is, however, that the ticket is as good as the average. Of course, they are violating democratic custom in running Jack Griest for a third term, but then we cannot blame them much—they are so happy to think they have found a man in their party who can run county business half right. John Noll for sheriff—what is the matter with John? We always thought he was a very decent Democrat, and yet hundreds of Democrats all over the county, are kicking like steers. They say he cannot make it. We hope they are right, but we have not much faith in such prophets. John Grove for associate Judge is a very good man. He is not one of your Democrats who will vote for the devil if he is on the ticket, but in local county politics has often acted independently and worked and voted for the best man. These are the right kind of men to elevate to the bench. It takes a democrat of a good deal of independence to work and vote against his party nominations, and the fact that Mr. Grove has done this shows that he has a mind of his own, and cannot be influenced against his judgment. We shall have more to say about this ticket in the future. There are many reasons why it should not succeed. There are many good men not fit for public officers.

Huntingdon Republicans.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., August 9.—The Huntingdon county republican convention, held in the opera house here to-day, was one of the most remarkable political assemblies ever held in this county. It was remarkable for its complete representation, the unusual enthusiasm manifested by the members and the unwonted number of candidates in the field. For several of the offices there were nearly as many candidates as there were delegates in the convention. At 10 o'clock the convention organized by electing B. F. Ripple, of Orbisonia, chairman, and the usual list of secretaries. In order to obviate a repetition of the confusing scenes incident to the last republican convention, it was agreed that no candidate or outsider be permitted to speak or occupy the floor. Previous to the adjournment of the morning session, the following gentlemen were placed in nomination for the office of prothonotary: John Brewster, Huntingdon; Samuel A. Steel, Huntingdon; Sewell H. Stewart, Huntingdon; W. E. Lightner, Logan township; Calvin Shafer, Cass township, and Jesse R. Akers, Huntingdon.

Proceeding to ballot for a nomination for prothonotary the convention, after seven ballots, selected Capt. John Brewster for that office.

John S. Bare, the present efficient and popular register and recorder, who had no opposition, was renominated by acclamation.

Nine candidates were placed in nomination for county treasurer, and after four ballots E. O. Rogers, of Cromwell township, was selected.

The nominations for district attorney were Jesse B. Rix, Charles G. Brown and H. H. Waite. Twe ballots resulted in the nomination of Mr. Brown by a majority.

Westley Gregory, of West township, and Isaiah Griffith, of Tod township, were the successful candidates for county commissioners against 16 competitors. Poor director, S. P. Brumbaugh, of Marklesburg; auditors, Henry Neff, of Logan township, and Gaks Spanogle, of Shirleysburg. John Lamon and George James were elected delegates to the state convention.

Poetry.

MIDSUMMER MADNESS

"Bring hither, bring hither my red bandbox;
Bring hither my bandbox green,
And my bandbox brown from London town,
And my box of silvern sheen.

"And it's oh for my trunk of leather tough,
And my trunk of oak-ribbed zinc;
And my trunk so tough, of canvass stuff,
That will bulge, but will not shrink.

"Oh, pile them high with the robes I wear,
Till their lips they overflow;
My lord he will stare, and eke he will swear,
But in they will have to go."

"Oh, waly, waly, my ladye fair,
Now whither will ye fly?"
"To Mount Saint Hushaloff-Worri-Ancair
Or Conyile-by-the-Sea?"

They have seized her boxes one and all,
In the tavern Lafitte de Kidd,
And loudly for help the porters call,
As they stack them up in the entry and hall,
And pile them high against bulkhead and wall,
But wherever they stow them, great and small,
Far out of her reach they are slid.

Her room is a cell a fathom long;
Her bed's a thing of fears;
Where all night long the noiseless song
Of the wingless bird she hears.

And her lord he lies in the hallway lone
On a sleep-destroying cot,
Where she hears him groan in a wrathful tone—
"It's—('Hush!) It's ('sh! Hush!)—'hot!"

And all this time in their home in town,
A mansion of cool grey stone,
There are peaceful glooms in seventeen rooms,
Where the burglar sleeps alone.

—ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

ORIGINAL DRAFT OF AN ANCIENT CHESTNUT.

O Mary had a little lamb, regarding whose cuticular,
The fluffed exterior was white and kinked in each particular.
On each occasion when the lass was sent perambulating,
This little quadruped likewise was there a gallivating.

One day it did accompany her to the knowledge dispensary,
Which to every rule and precedent was recklessly contrary.
Immediately whereupon the pedigog superior
Exasperated did eject the lamb from the interior.

Then Mary on beholding such performance arbitrary
Suffused her eyes with saline drops from glands called lachrymary.
And all the pupils thereat grew tumultuously hilarious
And speculated on the case with wild conjectures various.

"What makes the lamb love Mary so?" the scholars all asked the teacher.
He paused a moment, then he tried to diagnose the creature,
"O pecus amorem Mary habet omnia temporum."
"Thanks, teacher, dear," the scholars cried, and awe crept darkly o'er 'em.

GOD BLESS MOTHER.

BY GEORGE COOPER.

A little child with flaxen hair,
And sunlit eyes, so sweet and fair,
Who kneels, when twilight darkens all,
And from whose loving lips there fall
The accents of this simple prayer:
"God bless!—God bless my mother!"

A youth upon life's threshold wide,
Who leaves a gentle mother's side,
Yet keeps enshrined within his breast,
Her words of warning—still the best;
And whispers when temptation tried—
'God bless!—God bless my mother!'

A white-haired man who gazes back
Along life's weary, furrowed track,
And sees one face—an Angel's now!—
Hears words of light that led aright,
And prays, with reverential brow:
"God bless!—God bless my mother!"

Our Story Teller'

THE MAD LOVER.

BY G. WALDO BROWNE.

"Oh, Allie! I forgot to tell you before, but Lang Mitchell has escaped from his keepers and is at liberty."

Alice Durand's fair face turned pale at her friend's announcement.

"You do not mean it, Bessie. You are trying to frighten me."

"No; I am not, Alice. Mad Lang Mitchell has really escaped from the B——asylum, and as late as noon today he had not been found. But there, don't look so white; you nor I have nothing to fear. I had forgotten he was one of your discarded suitors. Singular, wasn't it, your rejection should have driven him crazy?"

"Bessie West!" exclaimed the other, reproachfully; "how can you speak so? I gave Mr. Mitchell to understand from the first that he could not win my favor. Still he would press his suit, until I became engaged to Frank Lane, when I positively refused to see him. He went away uttering such fearful threats that I can never forget them. You know that insanity is hereditary in the family. Lang had a sister in Dr. S.'s private asylum when he used to visit me, and he appeared at times to lose his reason. I always feared him, but I never cared for him. I feel for him in his affliction, but I am certainly in no way to blame. There, mother will be looking for me, and I must hasten home."

"I will go with you, Allie."

'Oh, no; you need not. I am not afraid."

"But it is awful lonesome through Black Hollow woods, and if you should meet Lang—"

"Nonsense, Bess West, I will show you that I am not afraid," and with a light laugh she started homeward, leaving her friend to anxiously watch her departure.

Allie was somewhat startled to find that the sun had set, and that night was fast creeping on. But rather than to be laughed at after boasting of her courage, she resolved not to turn back.

The truth was, Bessie's careless speech had wounded her feelings sorely, and as she walked along her mind became engrossed with unpleasant thoughts of Lang Mitchell, the escaped lunatic.

His misfortune was certainly not chargeable to her, though she could not help wishing that a different fate might have been his.

Filled with these conflicting meditations she hardly realized her progress until reaching Black Hollow, one of the most gloomy spots to be found in that vicinity. Under the somber woods it was already quite dark.

She quickened her steps as she came within the shadows of the overhanging forest that lined the road on either hand.

She had not advanced far, however, when the sound of footsteps fell upon her ears!

Glancing wildly over her shoulder she saw to her terror that some one was following her.

With a second glance she saw that her worst fears were realized.

It was mad Lang Mitchell.

Seeming to divine her discovery, he gave utterance to a shrill, maniacal laugh, which made her blood curdle and heart fairly cease its beating.

Her first thought was to cry for help; but in that lonely place she could not hope for an answer to her appeal.

With a wild, agonizing scream she fled for life.

His frantic cries making the evening air hideous, the mad man rushed in pursuit.

Terror seemed to lend wings and strength to the fleeing girl, who sped on like a haunted fawn, expecting to be overtaken at every bound of her wild pursuer.

But he proved a clumsy runner, and at first she outdistanced him. Her hopes began to rise as she began to feel that it possible for her to escape him.

His superior strength, however, soon began to count in his favor. She began to lose ground!

His cries grew more frequent and terrible. She had passed the darker portion of the way and was nearing the edge of the forest; but her home was still half a mile away, and it was the first house on the road?

Perhaps we should except one old dwelling that stood close to the woods, which had not been occupied for years, and the walls of which were fast yielding to the inroads of time.

As the hunted maiden came in sight of the deserted building she resolved as her only alternative to seek its shelter.

There was no turn in the road for a quarter of a mile, and as clearly as she could see in the gathering shadows of night no one was in sight—neither team nor foot-traveler!

What better could she do than seek the ruined house? Ah, could she hope to reach that?

As she bounded across the grass-grown yard she felt the outstretched hand of her pursuer touch her flying hair! But it slipped through his grasp, and with an agonizing cry she reached the steps, his hot breath fanning her cheek.

She barely reached the hall to close the door, which had stood ajar for years, as his foot gained the threshold.

Her almost superhuman effort hurled the dilapidated door from its rust-eaten hinges, when it fell at the feet of her pursuer a shattered wreck.

A portion of its frame struck the mad-man upon the side of the head, for the time stunning him.

She was given opportunity to cross an adjoining apartment before he recovered sufficiently to follow.

As she passed swiftly over the floor she felt it tremble beneath her weight, but she safely reached the next room, which was smaller and from which she saw at a glance there was no place of exit save from the door through which she had entered!

There had been a window, but it had been long since boarded over. To retreat was to rush into the arms of her pursuer, whose wild cries rang in her ears again. Her heart sunk within her as she realized how hopelessly she was entrapped.

The door was but a shattered frame which hung upon one hinge, so that it could afford her no protection. However, she showed wonderful self-possession as she cried out in a clear, ringing tone:

"Hold, Mr. Mitchell! Why do you pursue me?"

He was just entering the adjoining room, and stopped abruptly at the sound of her voice.

"What do you mean by this conduct, Mr. Mitchell?" she continued with a calmness that surprised herself.

"Oh, Allie! Allie!" he cried, "are you afraid of me that you flee thus?"

She realized that her only hope was in conciliating him. Fortunately for her purpose the palor of her countenance was not clearly seen by him in the semi-darkness; equally fortunate for her, too, was it that she could not see the fearful distortions of his haggard visage, else she should not have acted her part so calmly.

"No, no, Lang," she replied, "not afraid of you. But your appearance was so sudden and you seemed angered with me. What have I done——"

"Come, quick, Allie!" he implored; "fly with me! They are after us!" and he glared around him like a wild beast at bay.

"No one is after us, Lang. You are letting your reason get the better of you. Even my folks do not know I am here."

Her words were not without their effect. He appeared calmer, and his voice lost something of its harshness as he said:

"You will go with me, Allie?"

'Where do you want me to go, Lang?'

"Anywhere to escape them! Come!"

"You may go ahead, Lang. I will follow soon."

But he was not to be deceived so easily.

"No, no, Allie. You do not love me or you would fly with me at once. But you shall!" and he started forward.

"Yes, yes; I will go, Lang, only wait a moment. I must rest, I am so tired."

"And I will sit beside you, darling. If I can only be with you, I do not care for them."

She uttered a wild, piercing scream as he started toward her, his distorted visage gleaming with a fiendish look of triumph.

He was barely midway upon the floor, however, when the rotten timbers gave away with a crash and the mad man went down into the cellar covered with the debris.

As his ghostly face disappeared Allie sank against the wall, weak from the fearful strain upon her nerves.

The madman lay motionless amid the ruins. He was struck by one of the falling timbers, it was afterward found.

Finding he did not move, Allie looked around for an avenue of escape. There was none except by the window, and she turned to tear off the boards, when the sound of footsteps arrested her attention.

A moment later her lover, Frank Lane, appeared upon the scene, attracted by her cries as he was coming up the road to meet her.

"Oh, Frank!" she said, "save me!" and sank to the floor in a swoon the next moment.

He soon reached her side, when bearing her to the open air, she revived, and they started for her home.

A party of men were quickly aroused to undertake the capture of the madman. It was easily done, for he lay pinned under one of the floor timbers. His injuries proved fatal, and it seemed better that his unhappy existence had ended.

It was a long time before Allie could pass the site of the ruined house, without a shudder, and she never forgot her fearful adventure.

Good Citizens Can Secure Good Government.

The Law and Order Leagues of the United States are not designed to meet at stated intervals to denounce the liquor traffic, and to relate heart-rending stories about the evils of intemperance, or to agitate for higher license or prohibition; but their sole end is to enforce such laws as are already upon the statute book.

The method of practical working is this:—

1. Interest the leading citizens of the community. Invoke the aid of all law-abiding citizens to enforce the law which exists, whether they approve it or not, for lawlessness begets greater lawlessness, and one law nullified tends to nullify all law.

2. Secure the man, then it matters little whether you make him president, secretary, or agent he must be a man who believes in the work, who has courage, patience, tact, judgment, and knowledge of the world. This man must stand ready to take responsibility and to brave threats and intimidations. Above all, he must be a patient waiter; and having determined upon a plan of action, he must steadily pursue it, without haste and without cessation.

3. Money must be provided. Contributions will diminish taxes. The greatest burdens our tax-payers bear are inflicted by the illegal liquor traffic.

4. Aid the proper authorities. Do not take their place nor assume their duties. If you have reason to believe that the law is being violated, go first to the persons who are charged by their office with its enforcement, and call their attention to the facts; and ascertain whether they will do their duty. Offer them your support and assistance.

5. If the violation of law continues, and the executive officers still fail in their duty, then appeal to the courts.

6. But you must not forget, when you invoke the Criminal Court to enforce a law, that you must be prepared to name the man who has violated it, and to give time, place, and circumstance. You must be able to prove your case beyond a reasonable doubt, for the defendant is presumed to be innocent until he is proven guilty; and one of the maxims of the criminal law is, "That it is better ninety-nine guilty men should escape than that one innocent man shall be punished." Here is the most difficult phase of the work,—the obtaining of evidence against those who violate the law. Any means, approved by the courts and public opinion, for acquiring evidence against those who violate the laws against stealing, arson, rape, etc., are legitimate and may properly be used to secure evidence against those who are making drunkards of our boys and desecrating the Sabbath. Take the advice of your best criminal lawyer. Ask him what methods are employed to punish other criminals, and use the same in this cause. No other class of criminals are doing the people of the United States so much harm as those who are selling intoxicating liquors in violation of law.

7. Having secured evidence and entered your cases in court, have them tried by able lawyers. Many guilty men escape through lack of knowledge, on the part of the prosecution, of the proper way to try the case, bring out the facts, and secure the proper application of the law. The defendants in these cases make no mistakes about such matters; they are defended by the most able men who will take their retaining fees.

8. Always bear in mind the fact that a prosecution must not be a persecution. Prosecute only for a plain violation of law wilfully committed; and, being sure that your case is of the right kind, follow it to a conclusion.

9. When you declare war, include in your declaration all who violate the law, both great and small. Never let a man's station, be it high or low, influence you to prosecute, nor to pass him by. Say to all: "Here is the law: upon it we stand, and you must yield obedience."

10. Remember always that it is the voice of the law made by the people, for the people, that speaks through you; and be brave and vigilant.

THE CITIZEN.

He Passed.

A Detroiter, who went out on the Grand River road the other day to make some inquiries about property, was met at the gate by a determined-looking woman who queried:

"Looking for work?"

"No, ma'am."

"Selling lightning-rods?"

"No, ma'am."

"Got a patent windmill?"

"No, ma'am."

"Want to buy the right of way for a railroad?"

"No, ma'am."

"Got a fanning-mill, straw-cutter, threshing machine, or a potato-digger?"

"No, ma'am; I simply halted to ask your price on this farm per acre."

"Oh, lands! but I might have known it from your looks! You are one of those fellows boring around the country after natural gas! Pass on! We haven't got anything on this farm that even smells of it!"

The Intelligent Agriculturist.

"Got any cow-bells?"

"Yes, step this way."

"Those are too small. Haven't you any larger?"

"No, sir; the largest ones are all sold."

Rusticus started off and got as far as the door, when the clerk called after him:

"Look here, stranger, take one of these small bells for your cow, and you won't have half the trouble in finding her; for when you hear her bell you will always know she can't be far off."

The farmer bought the bell.

Out of a Small Hole.

"This is a most delicious fish," remarked the minister, who was enjoying a Monday dinner with the family. "I suppose the markets are well stocked now, Mr. Hendricks."

"Well er-to tell the truth," replied Mr. Hendricks, uneasily, "I caught the fish myself."

"Oh, did you," said the minister. "Well, I suppose when packed in ice, fish will easily keep from Saturday until Monday."

Scene at a Restaurant.—Waiter (to guest who had just finished eating)—Anything else I can help you to, sir? Guest—No. Waiter—Everything satisfactory? Guest—Yes. Waiter—Service all that could be desired? Guest—Good enough. (Goes out) Wonder what in thunder that fellow was so inquisitive for? Waiter—The old wooden headed skinflint! He wouldn't take a hint!

Omaha—Dame—Don't you think it is about time the title "lady" were bestowed only where it belongs? Omaha Philosopher—I certainly do, madam. No word in the language is so misused. "I glad we agree so well. Now if you would only give a clear and comprehensive definition of the term I will do my share toward making it public." "A lady, madam, is a human being of the feminine gender who is not afraid to be called a woman."

What he did with It.—"Jimmy, what did you do with all that cake?" was asked of a little Third street boy.

"What cake, mamma?"

"Why the cake on the table. You cannot have eaten it all?"

"I put half of it in my mouth and ate it up."

"Well, where's the other half?"

"The other half? Oh, I put that in, too."—Detroit Tribune.

PROHIBITION TESTED.

A YEAR'S EXPERIENCE IN ATLANTA PROVES IT TO BE PRACTICABLE.

From the Atlanta Constitution.

The election at which prohibition was put on trial in this city is entitled to a place among great events. No election of a local nature was ever before held in a city of 60,000 people in which more was involved. It has now been eighteen months since the election, and twelve months since the law went into effect. We are prepared thus from observation to note results.

Prohibition in this city does prohibit. The law is observed as well as the law against carrying concealed weapons, gambling, theft and other offenses of like character. In consideration of the small majority with which prohibition was carried, and the large number of people who were opposed to seeing it prohibit, the law has been marvelously well observed.

Prohibition has not injured the city financially. According to the assessors' books property in the city has increased over two millions of dollars. Taxes have not been increased. Two streets in the city, Decatur and Peters, were known as liquor streets. It was hardly considered proper for a lady to walk these streets without an escort. Now they are just as orderly as any in the city. Property on them has advanced from 10 to 25 per cent. The loss of $40,000 revenue, consequent on closing the saloons, has tended in no degree to impede the city's progress in any direction. Large appropriations have been made to the water works, the public schools, the peidmont fair and other improvements. The business men have raised $400,000 to build the Atlanta and Hawkinsville Railroad. The number of city banks is to be increased to five. The coming of four new railroads has been settled during the year. Fifteen stores containing house furnishing goods have been started since prohibition went into effect. These all doing well. More furniture has been sold to mechanics and laboring men in the last twelve months than in any twelve months during the history of the city. The manufacturing establishing of the city have received new life. A glass factory has been built. A cotton-seed oil mill is being built worth $125,000. All improvement companies with a basis in real estate have seen their stock double in value since the election on prohibtion.

Stores in which the liquor trade was conducted are not vacant, but are now occupied by other lines of trade. According to the real estate men more laborers and men of limited means are buying lots than ever before. Rents are more promptly paid than formerly. More houses are rented by the same number of families than heretofore. Before prohibition, sometimes as many as three families would live in one house. The heads of those families now not spending their money for drink are each able to rent a house, thus using three instead of one. Working men who formerly spent a great part of their money for liquor now spend it in food and clothes for their families. The retail grocery men sell more goods and collect their bills better than ever before. Thus they are able to settle more promptly with the wholesale men.

A preceptible increase has been noticed in the number of people who ride on the street cars. According to the coal dealers, many people bought coal and stored it away last Winter who had never been known to do so before. Others who had been accustomed to buying two or three tons on time, this last Winter bought seven or eight and paid cash for it. A leading proprietor of a millinery store said that he had sold more hats and bonnets to laboring men for their wives and daughters than before in the history of his business. Contractors say their men do better work, and on Saturday evenings, when they receive their weeks wages, spend the same for flour, hams, dry goods, or other necessary things for their families. Thus they are in better spirits, have more hope, and are not inclined to strike and growl about higher wages.

Attendance upon the public schools has increased. The Superintendent of Public Instruction said in his report to the Board of Education made January 1, 1887:

"During the past year it has become a subject of remark by teachers in the schools and by visitors that the children were more tidy, were better dressed, were better shod and presented a neater appearance than ever before. Less trouble has been experienced in having parents purchase books required by the rules, fewer children have been withdrawn to aid in supporting the family, the higher classes in the grammar schools have been fuller and more children have been promoted to the high schools, both male and female, than ever before in the history of the schools. All these indications point to the increased prosperity of the city and to the growing interest in the cause of education on the part of the people."

There has been a marked increase in attendance upon the Sunday-schools of the city. This is especially noticeable among the suburban churches. Many children have started to the Sunday-schools who were not able to attend for want of proper clothing. Attendance upon the different churches is far better. From 1500 to 2000 people have joined the various churches of the city during the year.

The determination on the part of the people to prohibit the liquor traffic has stimulated a disposition to do away with other evils. The laws against gambling are rigidly enforced. A considerable stock of gamblers' tools gathered together by the police for several years past was recently used for the purpose of making a big bonfire on one of the unoccupied squares of the city. The City Council has refused longer to grant license to bucket-shops, thus putting the seal of its condemnation upon the trade in futures of all kinds.

All these reforms have had a decided tendency to diminish crime. Two weeks were necessary formerly to get through with the criminal docket. During the present year it was closed out in two days. The chain gang is almost left with nothing but the chains and the balls. The gang part would not be large enough to work the public roads of the county were it not augmented by fresh supplies from the surrounding counties. The city government is in the hands of our best citizens.

The majority in this county in favor of prohibition was only 235. Such a change has taken place in public sentiment however, that now there is hardly a respectable anti-prohibitionist in the city who favors a return to barrooms. There is very little drinking in the city. There has been forty per cent. falling off in the number of arrests, notwithstanding there been a rigid interpretation of the law under which arrest are made. Formerly if a man was sober enough to walk home he was not molested. Now if there is the slightest variation from that state in which the centre of gravity falls in a line inside the base the party is made to answer for such variation at the station-house.

Our experience has demonstrated to us beyond a doubt that a city of 60,000 inhabitants can get along and advance at a solid and constant rate without the liquor traffic.

All Sorts.

In seven years a Michigan farmer has had seven horses killed by lightning.

Wrinkle for country drug-store keepers—A green apple given away with every package.

One of the most active industries of Southern California just now is hotel building. There is an epidemic of it in every section.

The man who sits down and waits to be appreciated will find himself among uncalled for baggage after the limited express train has gone by.

Owing to the strictness with which the prohibition law is now enforced in Wichita, Kan., that lively city is known as the "Beerless Princess of the Plains."

The Chicago chief of police refused permission to Wm. Baldwin to jump from a balloon at the height of 5,000 feet, as in his descent he might hurt some of the spectators nearer the earth.

A woman in Petoskey, Mich., rubbed phosphorus on her bunion before going to bed. In the night her husband fired the bootjack at a firefly, and now his wife walks on crutches.

In years of drought, it has been said, that cutting down the forests prevented rain. The forests have been pretty well thinned out, but "the rain it raineth every day." It is all a mystery.

A hospital for animals will soon be erected in London, and at the same time free dispensaries will be opened, where the horse, donkeys, cats, dogs and birds of the poor can be treated when ill.

Prohibition doesn't keep the lawyers of Atlanta from throwing law books, Bibles, and ink pots at one another in the presence of the court. These proceedings smack very strongly of surreptitious rum.

It does not help a man to tell him what he knows already, that the weather is damp and muggy; but so soon as he is informed that "humidity" is the trouble with the atmosphere, he begins to feel better.

A three-year old boy, who, afflicted probably by the hot weather, had been cross and fretful all day, was rather sharply asked by his mother "what's the matter?" "I want it to snow," was the child's prompt reply.

A girl dressed in man's clothes "gave herself away" at a Cincinnati hotel by making an involuntary movement to adjust her bustle when she sat down at the dinner table. She forgot her assumed part for one fatal moment.

Little 3-year-old Harry loves to gather flowers, so one day, while his Aunt Ellen was there on a visit, he brought in some "Sweet Williams" and held them up to her saying, "Aunty, I could only find two Uncle Williams."

Majority Against Prohibition.

AUSTIN TEX., August 5.—The estimated majority in the state against prohibition is 30,000 to 50,000. A dispatch received from Hon. Barney Gibbs, ex-lieutenant-governor and a leader of the "Antis" says they hold the fort with 75,000 to spare. Anyhow, the defeat of the prohibitionists is conceded on all sides. Election reports are coming in slowly. The battle raged furiously all over the state, and the enemies of strong drink were victorious in a number of places. Dispatches from the State Anti-Prohibition Committee estimate the majority against prohibition at 100,000.

A Galveston dispatch says: In this city the election passed off quietly. The majority was 2,500 against prohibition. The result of Galveston's vote was a surprise to even the most sanguine among the "antis." This election caused a revolution as foreign to the customs of the people of Texas as it is repugnant to their best sentiment. Women whose place has always been at the fireside were yesterday at the polls endeavoring to exercise popular suffrage. And these women were not the short haired crusaders, but Galveston's fair ladies, who transformed the polling places into picnic grounds by establishing around them refreshments booths, where temperance drinks and viands were served. If such a revolution in the exercise of suffrage in Texas had any influence it was in a direction opposite to that which was intended. While reports so far received from other portions of the state are meagre, sufficient returns have been received to show that prohibition has been defeated in the state by a larger majority than previously estimated.

The latest returns indicate that the prohibition amendment has been defeated in the state by a majority from 50,000 to 60,000.

Fatally Burned.

PITTSBURG, August 5.—Last evening Mrs. Owen Hade, living on the Morningside road, near Etna, left her four little children in the house while she carried her husband's supper to him at the Isabella Furnace, probably a mile away. During her absence the oldest child—Eddie, aged 8 years—took the oil can and poured the fluid into the stove, as he had often seen his mother doing when she started the fire. An explosion followed, and the burning oil was scattered over the room, enveloping the four children.

The screams of the little ones attracted the attention of the neighbors, who came to their assistance and soon extinguished the flames. The children, however, were all terribly burned and the youngest, aged 16 months, died in a short time. The others—Eddie, Sophie and Johnnie, aged 8, 6 and 3 years respectively—are still living, but the physicians say they cannot recover. The parents are almost crazed with grief.

Hotel Burned.

DUNKIRK, August 5.—At 11 o'clock last night fire was discovered in the western part of the St. James hotel, and although the full fire department was promptly on the scene the flames soon spread through the building in every direction and connected with the Eastern hotel, adjoining. In a very few minutes both were in flames, and at 12.30 o'clock the floors fell in.

The flames then spread to the buildings in the rear, but were soon extinguished. The hotels are a total wreck. The total loss on the hotels will probably reach $75,000. The insurance on the Eastern hotel is small, while the St. James has no insurance. The fire is thought to have the work of an incendiary.

IN BRIEF, AND TO THE POINT

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

—John W. Grier and Robert H. Grier, Jr., have started a weekly paper in Jersey Shore, Lycoming county, which they name the Jersey Shore Vidette. They say it first had its existence in 1854 and call this the new series. The salutatory announces that it is a consolidation of the Weekly Times and Jersey Shore Vidette; that it is independent, not neutral; that the publishers have no capital except pluck, push and perseverance; and finally, that they "shall never crook the knee that thrift may follow fawning."

The Result of Jury Fixing.—Light of his Life—George, dear, would you do anything I asked of you?

George—You known I would, darling. What is it, light of my life?

Light of his Life—I want you to become a criminal.

George—What crime dearest, could I commit to make you happy?

Light of his Life—Embra-cery. (The crime is accomplished.)

A Perilous Postponement.

To postpone, when the day for immediate action is clear, is always unwise. Especially is it so when increasing ill health calls for a resort to medication. Diseases of the kidneys and bladder are often of swift growth—always of fatal tendency if not combatted at the outset. We have all—even those of us who are not remarkably well instructed—heard something of the danger attending Bright's disease, diabetes, and other diseases of the kidney or bladder. Let no one be foolhardy enough to procrastinate if he perceives the renal organs to be inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are peculiarly adapted to overcome this inaction, to sufficiently stimulate, without exciting, the kidneys and bladder. Infinitely is this diuretic to be preferred to the impure and fiery stimulants of commerce, which prove the bane of unwary persons with a tendency to renal troubles. They are likewise incomparable for dyspepsia, debility, fever and ague, and billiousness.

Love's Crucial Test.—"Ethel, do you love me?" he inquired in a hasty, eager manner.

"I have often told you so," was the reply.

"Then prove it now."

"How can I?"

"Change your face powder. The kind you use now almost invariably makes me sick."

GIVE THEM A CHANCE.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend on this for certain.

Endorsed by the M. D's.

A. M. Robinson, Druggist and Apothecary, Bangor, Me., in a letter dated July 1, 1884, says:—"I have had many prescriptions for Gilmore's Aromatic Wine from one of our best physicians, who learned of its virtues from those who had used it." No remedy ever produced has met with such marked favor from the medical profession. The Company cheerfully furnish any physician a sample of their Aromatic Wine, and not one of the many hundreds who have given it an examination has ever failed to endorse it as a valuable remedy.—All over the country leading physicians are prescribing it, particularly for the numerous ailments to which females are liable. They know there is no purer, safer, or more reliable remedy.

"I don't believe in bullying," said Pompano, sternly, "but I do think that a man ought to be master of his own house. My wife, of course, doesn't agree with me, but this summer I carried my point." "Ah, indeed," said Bagley, in interested tones. "Have you the recipe with you?" "Yes; I sent her to the seashore for the summer."

President Garfield's Physician.

Dr. Bliss and other eminent medical men speak in the highest terms of Speer's Wines. Dr. Bliss prescribes these wines in his practice, whenever wines are necessary. The following is part of a letter received by Mr. Speer:

I have been greatly pleased by your N J Wines, and specially so with the Claret, Burgundy and Port. I wish you to send me two cases of your Claret and one of Burgundy, also two cases of Claret and one of Burgundy to my niece, Miss —— New York City, and send the bill of both orders to me. Yours truly,

D. W. BLISS, M. D.,
Washington, D. C.

A boom pamphlet from Fort Smith, Ark., contains this reassuring statement: "They never ask after your antecedents here if you are a newcomer, but what you are and what you can do." A horse thief from Ohio can become a leading citizen of Fort Smith if he is wise enough to keep his mouth shut and let other people's live stock alone.

Grape Cure Establishment.

Mr. Speer, of New Jersey, whose wines have such a well merited and extended reputation all over this country and Europe, for their age and excellent properties in cases of sickness, and are so famous for their curative properties, is about to build a large Hotel or Grape Cure Establishment on one corner of his vineyard. The House will accommodate five or six hundred guests who are to have the privilege of roaming through the vines, in the morning to pluck the ripe grapes and breakfast on them while the cool dew is yet on.

Catarrhal poisoning gave me dyspepsia, and nervous dyspepsia and prostration followed. I got so reduced I had to be carried up and down stairs. Everybody thought I would die. Three months' use of Kaskine gave me new life. I am now perfectly well. I owe my recovery and life itself to the use of this great and efficient remedy.—Mrs. E. A. Comstock, 139 East 71st St., N. Y.

"Four years of malaria and dyspepsia greatly reduced my wife's strength and destroyed her health. A trip to Florida and every known remedy could not restore her. I heard of Kaskine, and four months' use broke up the malaria, cured the dyspepsia, restored her strength, and six months repaired the waste of four years.—Chauncy I. Titus, Albany, N. Y.

Letters from the above persons, giving full details, will be sent on application.

Kaskine can be taken without any special medical advice. $1.00 per bottle

REPUBLICAN DELEGATE ELECTION AND COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican voters of Centre county are requested to attend at the respective voting places for the several election precincts, on SATURDAY, AUGUST 27, 1887, for the purpose of electing delegates to the County Convention; and the delegates chosen at that time will meet at the COURT HOUSE, in Bellefonte, on

TUESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1887,

at 2 o'clock p. m., to place in nomination one person for the office of Associate Judge, one person for County Treasurer, one person for Sheriff, one person for Register, one person for Recorder, two persons for County Commissioners, two persons for County auditors; and to elect a chairman of the County Committee for 1888, and to transact such other business as may be for the best interests of the party.

Under the rules of the party the number of delegates to which each precinct is entitled is as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Bellefonte, N. W. | 6 | Haines, East P. | 1 |
| " S. W. | 4 | " West P. | 2 |

Death in the Black Waters

MILWAUKEE, Wis., August 7.—At the launching of the huge steamer William A. Wolf, at Wolf & Davidson's shipyard yesterday afternoon by a peculiar accident several persons were killed outright and a number of others seriously injured. So far as ascertained the names of the killed and injured are as follows:

The Dead—William Tarbb, Mrs Ellen Freulisch, Collin Denister, Mrs Jennie Marley, Aggie Earnest, Ed. Seer, Charles Wolrich, unknown man, 45 years old; unknown boy, 15 years old.

The injured—F. L. Borrow, Merrick Kelsard, A. D. Whitcomb, Dennis McKay, Frank Altoffer, Susie Klegg, Theodore Klaet, Henry Eilen, William Knach.

Arrangements had been made for the launch from Wolf & Davidson's shipyard of the monster steamer W. H. Wolf, the largest vessel ever built or launched on Lake Michigan. The occasion drew together an enormous crowd of spectators, and every available spot that could be occupied by them was utilized. The first report concerning the accident was to the effect that a platform erected for a stand for sightseers had given way, carrying a great crowd of people into the river, and that at least one hundred were drowned or crushed to death. Calls were received by telephone at the leading drug stores in the centre of the city for surgeons to be sent to the scene.

All the police stations were asked to send patrol wagons, and uptown livery stables were called on for hacks and wagons to carry away the dead and injured. The extent of the accident thus reported filled the city with horror. Business was partially suspended at once, and thousands of people started for the scene of the disaster. It proved that the reports had been much exaggerated but the truth was bad enough. About one hundred or more people had climbed on the old shed of the Northwestern Fuel Company's dock opposite the place of the launch. It was the best possible place to witness the spectacle, but they were warned that it was dangerous and begged not to stay there by Mr. Davidson.

When everything was in readiness word was given to cut the hawser which held the ship in the cradle. The blow was given, and simultaneously the monster ship glided down the ways and plunged into the water, amid the great shout of thousands of spectators. Her port bow was buried for an instant; then she recovered and rolled on in the black waters of the slip. The water displaced by the hull rose in a mighty wave, almost as high as the steamer herself. It rose in a dense black volume against the coal shed, throwing its waters high above the dock and toward the roof, on which the people stood. The structure was not strong enough to stand the shock, and it went down with a terrific crash, carrying its living freight into the slip. The black water was instantly filled with struggling men, women and children and floating lumber.

All interest in the launch was forgotten in the terrible excitement that prevailed among the great crowd of spectators. Mothers whose children were known to have been on the roof, wives whose husbands had left them to join the crowd, indeed all who in the confusion missed friends or relatives, rent the air with cries which were answered back from the struggling mass of people in the water. Many were stunned so that at first the idea prevailed that a very large number were dead. In the excitement of the hour it is impossible to obtain a compiete list of the killed and injured, as many were carried home in private carriages, and their names are not yet known.

A Georgia Tragedy.

MACON, August 7.—News of the shocking murder of a farmer and his family in the interior of this county reached here yesterday afternoon, but the details thus far received are exceedingly meagre. A well-to-do farmer named Richard Woolfolk, his wife and six of their children lived in the country, in a sparsely settled neighborhood in Bibb county. The family went to bed as usual last night. It was discovered early this morning that Mr. Woolfolk, his wife and all the children were dead. On each one of them were marks of violence, showing that they were the victims of foul play. That all were murdered during the night there can be no doubt whatever. As soon as the horrible tragedy was reported in the settlement people began visiting the Woolfolk homestead, where they saw a ghastly confirmation of the rumors. The rooms were covered with blood, and the beds in which the children were killed were bospatted with gore.

On the bodies of the man and woman were frightful wounds. The excited people had no clue to the perpetrators of the deed. It was at first supposed that burglars had entered the house, had been resisted by Woolfolk, and that they killed him. Then, to leave no living witness, they slew one after another of the family. Upon examination, however, it was seen that no robbery had been committed. Valubles lay about the rooms untouched. Thomas G. Woolfolk, a son of the murdered man, was apprised of the killing, and he acted so strangely that the suspicions of some of the neighbors were excited. This afternoon he was arrested and placed in jail, charged with the murder of his father, mother, four sisters and two brothers. He was indignant at the arrest, and vehemently denied the accusation. Intense excitement prevails in Bibb county, and further developments are awaited with impatience.

The funeral of the eight victims of Thomas G. Woolfolk took place to-day at Rose Hill cemetery in the presence of 3,000 people. The services were brought to an abrupt termination by the arrival of Mrs. Edwards, the only sister of the murderer, who was in Athens at the time of the commission of the crime. A heartrending scene followed, bringing tears to the eyes of every spectator. Woolfolk was carried to Atlanta early this morning for safe keeping. He continues to deny his guilt.

In Canadian Waters.

HALIFAX, August 8.—Considerable excitement prevailed here Saturday over the latest seizure at Souris, which is now reported to be not only for an offense against the custom laws, but also for a violation of the treaty of 1818, and to be such a serious case as to require the immediate presence of Consul General Phelan. Great interest also attaches to a conference which took place that day between the minister of fisheries, Rear Admiral Luce, Consul General Phelan and Captain Scott. The conference ocnrred on beard the United States flag ship Richmond, and lasted over an hour. It is understood that circumstances connected with recent seizures, the administration of Canadian customs regulations, the rights of American fishermen in Canadian waters, the statement of questions by Admiral Luce and Captain Scott's replies thereto, and other matters were freely and frankly discussed, though purely informally.

The result is that this interchange of views has caused such a personal understanding to be arrived at as will materially aid in solving a number of knotty points hitherto a source of annoyance and irritation, and to tend to simplify affairs in the future. Regarding the cases of the Gloucester schooners, Argonaut and French, Minister Porter declares it to be the intention of the Canadian authorities to capture those vessels wherever they could find them, either inside the Canadian limits or on the high seas outside of the territorial waters of the United States. He argues that the vessels, upon the admission of their crews, had clearly been guilty of violating the treaty, and therefore were liable to forfeiture, and a forfeited vessel could be taken anywhere outside the territorial waters of another power.

London Topics.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Now that the much-amended and often patched-up land bill, formulated ostensibly for the relief of Ireland, is passed, it will soon be realized how far the tenants of Ireland are benefitted by it. The bill certainly eases the solvent tenants, those who owe no arrears, and can, especially under the reduction of rents that the bill contemplates, keep themselves square with their landlords. To them the passage of the bill is a great boon, but how is it with the poor peasant holders, who eke out a hand-to-mouth existence? They are left in the lurch by the same bill that favorably affects their more fortunate neighbors.

There is no provision in the bill for the relief of the man who owes for arrears. All the good the bill can do him he cannot appreciate, for the crushing debt must be paid. The very idea of the whole measure is thus vitiated, for the number it assists is small compared with those whom it cannot touch. It is hoped that the lords, when it comes to them, as it will to-day, will admit to its already numerous clauses a mutual remedial clause which will confer some benefit upon the unfortunate and hopelessly in debt, as well as the tenant who is free from such incumbrance. But that the house of lords will consider it necessary to make any change in what has been passed by the commons relating to the Irish is doubtful. Sir John Gorst, parliamentary secretary for Indian office, yesterday amitted that there was no cure for Ireland in what he termed heroic acts, and that he could hardly hope for the successful operation of the coercion bill or land bill.

As the irrepressible Ghilzais progress in their warring against the ameer the latter weakens, and is preceptibly fearful that the position he has lately claimed as secure is not so safe after all. His recant proclamation that he could subdue the Ghilzais without the aid of England, who stood, however, ready to help him, now appears even to his subjects only as the assurance a man gives himself when hope is nearly gone, and his pride will not allow him to confess it.

That Russia is waiting a favorable change of invading Afghanistan, whether through the rebellion of the Ghilzais, or through the weakness of the ameer is a matter of no doubt. The armies of the czar are ready and not far off. The only hope that now remains for the ameer is that England will come to his rescue, and this is precisely what is likely to happen. It is strongly suspected now, in the face of recent events, that Englhnd is preparing and will soon step in and make herself felt in the situation, thus effectually shutting out the czar and securing the ameer upon a throne which, but for England's interference, would know his authority but a little longer.

On Their Way Home.

TACOMA, W. T., Aug. 9.—The steamer Olympian has just returned from a trip ty Alaska, bearing back Senators Cameron, of Pennsylvania; Vest of Missouri, and Farwell, of Illinois; Governors Swineford, of Alaska, and Houser, of Montana; Elliott F. Shepard, of the New York bar; President Gilman, of the Johns Hopkins university; President Abbott, of the Wisconsin Central railway; Prof. Dyer, of the Howard university; Attorney Bliss, of Washington; Miss Edwards, of the Mt. Holyoke seminary; President Butler, of the New York Training college, and many others of distinction, from all parts of this country and England.

They say the scenery was something wonderful. The gold mountains of Douglass Island were particularly astonishing. Alaska's Indians they found far advanced in civilization and Christianity. Liberal contributions were made by the excursionists for the Indian schools, and the senators promised cooperations in still further enlarging them. The party witnessed the departure of an Indian fleet of six sail-boats, from Metlackla, British Columbia, for Port Chester, Alaska, being an advance division of a thousand Indians who seek better homes in our country.

Suffocated by Natural Gas.

PITTSBURG, August 8.—Wm. Sampson and James Herron, two employes of the Chartier Valley's natural gas company, were suffocated by escaping gas this afternoon while repairing a regulator under Chartiers street, Allegheny City. The regulator is in a small subterranean apartment six feet below the street. The two men descended and had been at work probably fifteen minutes when the immense volume of gas burst forth from the regulator. They made an attempt to close the opening from which the gas issued, but failing, they tried to climb out and also failed. After thirty minutes the gas was turned off, but too late to save them.

Forest Fires in Michigan.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., August 9—Heavy forest fires have been raging throughout this section for the past two weeks, doing considerable damage. The department was called out yesterday to fight fire in adjoining forest south of the city, back to Lake Forest Cemetery. About 1,400 acres burned in that vicinity and the fire encroached upon the cemetery, where it burned the grass off from about 30 lots, badly bleaching tombstones, etc. The fire is now under control south of here, but it is raging fiercely to the southeast of the city.

Forest fires are raging fearfully in the northern part of Kent county. At Sand Lake the fire got into the pine slashing, and for some time came near devouring the village. Farm houses and buildings adjacent to the fire were barely saved by heroic efforts. The woods and fields in every direction about Cedar Springs are on fire, and pretty much everybody is engaged in fighting the flames, trying to save farm property. Several residences were yesterday surrounded by fire, and only by great effort was the property saved. Fences and timber were burned valued at several thousands of dollars. Fanned by a brisk breeze the flames spread rapidly.

If rain does not come soon there will be heavy losses. Crops are suffering terribly. Fire broke out in the pineries near Grandville yesterday afternoon and there is danger of the village burning up. Fires are also burning in the marshes near the city and the smoke is thick all about. The Coleman Charcoal company's kilns, at Coleman, with 300 cords of wood belonging to Knapp & Burrington, were totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon on account of the forest fires. Loss unknown at present. Other property in that vicinity is in great danger.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

That Terrible Double Murder.

The scene of Sunday morning's great murder, some facts in regard to which were given in the DAILY NEWS on Tuesday, was in Logan township, Clinton county, very near the Porter township line—so near in fact, that although the home of the murdered people was in Porter township, their dead bodies were found in Logan township. It was four miles from Washington Furnace. Mr. and Mrs. John Colvey started from their home in Sugar Valley on Monday morning to assist their son and his wife to take in oats. What a sight met their gaze. Isaiah, their son, was lifeless on the grass, a bullet wound near his left eye telling how he had died. A basketful of grass near by suggested that he had been carrying it when the murderer came on the scene. He was a poor man. But his pocket book lay on the grass near him empty and his silver watch was gone. Not far away lay his wife, Nora. She had received three wounds—one on the back of the head near the base of the brain, one in the shoulder and one in the breast. Her body was almost naked and her person had been outraged. A bucket of water near by suggested that she had been carrying it from the spring to the house. In the house it looked as if preparations had been made for breakfast, which is the reason for believing that the tragedy occurred Sunday morning. There were marks of bloody hands, showing that after the crime the murderers had entered the house to search for valuables. Justice of the Peace C. W. Conser held the inquest, and on Monday evening the bodies were buried.

The news spread rapidly and the country in that vicinity is being carefully searched for the perpetrators of the crime. A man named James Kline, who is in jail in Lock Haven, is suspected. We also heard Wednesday that two other men have been arrested. We hope that the guilty parties may be arrested and would be pleased to see summary justice visited upon them.

The later reports tell us that the child found in the house was only a year and a half old. The couple had one other child who was not home at the time. Isaiah Colvey was about 27 years of age and his wife was not more than 20.

—The Tyrone correspondent of the Altoona Times accuses this paper of ingratitude because we termed company D, N. G. P., of the former place, "worthless;" giving as a reason that so many of them have come to our aid when needed at times of fire. Does not that correspondent know that a man may be an admirable citizen or fireman and a worthless military man. We thank all who came to Bellefonte's aid in her time of dire distress. Our adjective applied to the company as a whole, not to the individuals. For instance, the aforesaid correspondent may be a superior blacksmith, but as a newspaper writer he is an entire failure. In the words of Judge Daniel Agnew we advise him: "Ne sutor ultra crepidam." He gives as a reason for the failure of the second inspection, that it was held in the middle of the day when the men could not come out. Bless you, sir; the second inspection of company B was at 1.30 o'clock and was successful. A true soldier will go on duty at any hour. We consider the correspondent's letter in the nature of an apology and will have mercy on him.

Low Rates to the Encampment N. G. P.

The tents of the National Guard of Pennsylvania were pitched at Mount Gretna on the 6th inst. and the troops will remain in camp until the 13th. The selection of Mount Gretna as the site of the encampment is peculiarly happy, as the location is not only easily accessible from all parts of the State, but the surroundings of the camp are as handsome, attractive, and picturesque as any ground in the Commonwealth. Besides the natural beauty of the park, artificial adornment makes it a charming spot.

In order to accommodate visitors to the camp, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets August 6th to 12th, good to return until 16th inclusive, from Lewistown Junction and all stations west, and from Sunbury and all stations north and west thereof, at a single fare for the round trip.

The route is via main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad to Conewago, thence via. Cornwall and Lebanon Railroad to Mt. Gretna.

—The Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association have a large force of workingmen employed constructing an additional avenue at Culp's Hill, along the line occupied July 2d and 3d, 1863, by Cutler's brigade, of the First Corps; Candy's brigade of the Twelfth Corps, and Green's brigade of the same corps. The avenue starts at the position held by Stevens' battery on the bluff next to East Cemetery Hill, and extends along the line of battle to the highest part of Culp's Hill, among the huge rocks and around the monument of the Twenty-third Pennsylvania, nearly a mile in length. By this improvement visitors to the battlefield will drive along the line of the Union works, instead as heretofore taking a road far in the rear of positions occupied by the troops.

—The Fifth regiment is getting along swimmingly at Camp Hancock. A letter to the Altoona Tribune, dated the 8th, says that a detail of thirty-eight men, two sergeants and three corporals, under Lieutenant Geissinger, of Company B, in heavy marching order, were detailed at an early hour for guard duty at division headquarters. The usual guard mount was had at 8.30. Company drill was had at 9 o'clock. This afternoon regimental skirmish drill and rifle practice was had, with dress parade at 6.30. The regiment not only furnishes the guard for division headquarters, but also furnishes the division officer of the day, in the person of Lieutenant Colonel Hale, and the division Medical director, in the person of Surgeon Stayer.

A Business Changes Hands.

The clothing and gent's furnishing store owned and conducted by S. U. Thompson was sold on Saturday to Mr. F. C. Montgomery, who will continue the business at the same place. Mr. Montgomery is the manager for Montgomery & Co., merchant tailors, and will continue his management of that business. In his new store he will keep a handsome line of hats, caps, etc. Frank is a most excellent business man and we have no doubt he will be eminently successful. We regret that Mr. Thompson is about to retire from active business here and hope he and Mr. Fields will not remove from town. We understand that the delicate health of Mr. Thompson necessitated his giving up the business; hence, his reason for selling.

Death of an Infant.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burns, of Snow Shoe, are mourning the death of their infant daughter, Mamie J., who died on Sunday, August 7th, of pneumonia, and was buried in the Catholic cemetery of that place Tuesday. Mrs. Burns was formerly Miss Lina McDermott, of this place.

A Double Murder near Washington Furnace.

According to reports which come to us, a most diabolical crime which ended in a double murder was committed in the Narrows back of Washington Furnace on Sunday. At that spot resided Mr. and Mrs. Culvey and a three year old child. Their dwelling must be much isolated. It is believed that Mr. Culvey was in the field mowing grass, his wife being not far away. A tramp came up to Mr. Culvey and probably made a request of him for money or food. Whatever the reply was, the tramp shot Mr. Culvey in the back of the head and as he partially turned around shot him again above the left eye, both shots proving fatal. He then attacked Mrs. Culvey, treating her in the most cruel manner and leaving her either dying or dead.

The deed was not discovered until sometime on Sunday when the father of Mr. Culvey came to see his son. All this time the three year old child was in the house without food. on Tuesday an inquest was held over the dead bodies and such facts as are obtainable will be given.

MORE PARTICULARS.

The Altoona papers, which came that morning, strange to say, contain nothing in regard to the great tragedy. Mr. Daly, of Curtin township, gives us the particulars about as we have related them above, except he says that the murdered man's name was Fritz Culvey. It was Mr. Culvey's mother, instead of his father, who came first on the scene and discovered the bloody deed. Mr. Daly also says the bodies were buried on Monday. He tells us of some circumstances which attach suspicion to certain parties, which however we will not give publicity to at present.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The July Wide Awake has an interesting article on what sort of a boy George Washington was, with another hatchet story as good as the cherry-tree story—and more human. Charles Egbert Craddock's story begun in the June number halts at a coon-hunt. The other story-tellers stop to take breath as they can. There is more of what goes on inside of a bank, a peep at the Harvard Annex, a boy misses his Fourth of July, and a picture-story of animals and their animal friends. This magazine is as bright and full and solid and good as ever. $2.40 a year; but there isn't a boy or girl that can't get it for work. Send five cents for a sample copy to D. Lothrop Company, Boston; and there will come with it a primer about the other Lothrop magazines.

Current numbers of the Golden Argosy, the eminently successful juvenile weekly, published by Frank A. Munsey, at 81 Warren St., N. Y., are brimming over with a freight of good things in the shape of stirring stories, spirited pictures, and timely papers on the sports and recreations of the season. The serials now running are by such able authors as Barnum, Alger, Ellis, Converse, Putnam, and a new one is to be begun immediately by the far-famed Oliver Optic. It is entitled "The Young Pilot of Lake Montoban," and it goes with out saying that it will be sure to delight the boys. A series of papers on canvas canoe building supplies some much desired and very seasonable information, while in the department of editors biographies, we note sketches and portraits of the Hon. Wm. Dorsheimer, of the N. Y. Star, and St. Clair McKelway of the Brooklyn Eagle.

We have just received a copy of the Advertiser's Manual, a neat, compact volume designed for the use of general advertisers, and published by Remington Brothers, Newspaper Advertising Agents, Pittsburgh, Pa. This book, the first of the kind published in Pittsburgh, contains in very convenient form a carefully revised list of the leading papers of the United States and Canada. The best The best papers of each class and locality have been selected and their circulations stated as accurately as possible. In Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia the territory covered by the Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia Press Association, of which this firm are the specially appointed agents, the list is full and complete, including every paper inserting advertisements. The book also includes properly classified lists of the best Agricultural, Religious, Scientific and Trade publications and leading magazines, which afford the best possible means for reaching specific classes of trade. All the lists are catalogued by towns in alphabetical order, and in the General list the population is given of each town and of the county in which it is located. The book contains a large amount of information invaluable to the business man who contemplates the use of "printers' ink," and its concise and compact arrangement make this information readily available, a point which busy men will appreciate.

In speaking of Rowell's Advertising Agency, the Philadelphia Record says: Messrs. George P. Rowell & Co., of New York, have just issued from their Advertising Agency in that city, a pamphlet in which they give appropriate places to 2,000 out of the 15,420 newspapers named in the last issue of the American Newspaper Directory, with the assurance that the selections made are sufficient for the wants of the most extensive advertiser. The experience of this firm, dating back for upward of twenty years, enables it to form an accurate estimate of the relative value of a newspaper as an advertising medium. Certain it is that had not its business been so conducted that advertisers could reap the greatest return for their outlay, it would not, in these days of competition and rivalry, have reached the position which it now holds. Just as the establishment of a great News Bureau, with branches in every large city, has enabled the press to supply simultaneously to every section the events of the whole world; so an advertising agency that is able to put its finger upon the pulse of every reputable newspaper and estimate its value must be of immense advantage, not only to advertisers, but also to the newspapers themselves. The advertiser, even if he be hundreds of miles away from the city in which he wishes to make his wants known, can rest assured that through such a medium there is no danger that his enterprise will be misdirected, while, on the other hand, the newspaper is saved all risk of accepting something which might prove a monetary loss. The increase of business demands new and improved business methods, and the advantages of an advertising agency that knows exactly where to go and how best to help its patrons cannot be over estimated. Mailed to any address for 30 cts. Address Geo. P. Rowell & Co., New York.

The Jubilee season in London, and the excitement of the public mind over the Queen's fiftieth anniversary of her reign, are represented by two articles in the current number of THE ECLECTIC: "Victorian Literature," by Prof. Edward Dowden, and "The Progress of Thought in Our time," by John Addington. Both of these papers are noteworthy productions of their brilliant authors. "Oxford in the Middle Ages," by John C. Brodrick, is a peculiarly interesting study of university life in the olden time. Algernon Charles Swinburne has a powerful poem on the Jubilee, perhaps the strongest that has yet been published. Andrew Lang has some sensible words to say on literary plagiarism, and James Keith, in a paper entitled "Our Great Competitor," studies the future of the United States in a strain of glowing prophecy. Mr. Glaustone attacks some of the conclusions in Mr. Lecky's last volume of "England in the Eighteenth Century" with his accustomed eloquence of expression. The papers entitled "Russia as the Enemy of English Trade," and the "Origin and Interpretation of Myths"—the latter by W. S. Gill—are, in their respective lines, highly suggestive and interesting. Mr. Westwood-Oliver is the contributor of a scientific article named "Earthquake Warnings," which will be read with profit by the many who have been recently alarmed by earthquake convulsions. Other articles of notable interest are a sketch of Thomas Stevenson the great engineer, by his son, Reuben Louis Stevenson, who has recently made such a brilliant reputation in the field of fiction; "Tree Lore," by J. A. Farrer, and "Poet's Pictures," a selection from Temple Bar. The minor articles are interesting and well chosen. Special attention may be called to the study of Virginia life, entitled "Mar'se Dab after the war," from Blackwood's Magazine. Published by E. R. Pelton, 25 Bond street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single numbers 45 cts; trial subscription for 3 months, $1. Eclectic and any other $4 Magazine, $8.

The Kentucky Earthquake.

A dispatch from Evansville, Ind., in regard to the earthquake, of which mention was made last week, and the sinking of land in Trigg county, Kentucky, says; A gentleman who has just arrived from Hopkinsville says that the country about the scene is low and swampy and almost inaccessible in places save by old beaten paths. Much of it is wild and contains large, dense woods. Golden Pond is a mere hamlet, containing two settlements of negroes, who eke out a living by working on several large farms owned by non-residents. Monday night about 6 o'clock several of them felt the earth tremble, but thought nothing serious had occurred beyond a slight tremor, and, after gossipping over it, went to bed. About midnight everybody was awakened by a sharp shock and had hardly jumped to their feet, when the earth with a shaking, dizzy motion, suddenly sank a distance of five feet, carrying houses and terrified darkies with them.

The scenes that ensued baffle description. The negroes fell on their knees, and in frenzied tones prayed the Lord to save them. Others began shouting and praising the Almighty, and ever and anon casting an upward glace to see if chariots of fire were not descending. Added to this pandemonium was the intense darkness which prevailed, the moon being completely obsured by heavy black clouds, which hung very low and like a pall over the doomed district. Rumblings were heard from the depths below, which gradually became louder, and numerous springs, hidden for years, suddenly found an opening and then began to bubble upward in constantly increasing streams.

The terrified inhabitants, not pausing for household goods or chattels, gathered their offspring hurriedly, and rushed away from the doomed spot, and some of them are still putting as much distance between them and the sinking land as possible. The more courageous only fled until they reached safe ground and there waited until daylight, when they ventured back to the scene of the night's terror and gazed sadly upon the ruin spread before them. Over 250 acres of fine farm land, including one magnificent plantation owned by C. Z. Hayden, lay from five to six feet below the level of the surrounding country, and contained about three feet of water from the springs started by the earthquake.

A large area of tobacco and corn will be a total loss. Nearly all the cabins have been torn loose and are floating about in various positions, while household goods are mixed up in inextricable confusion. Fortunately no lives have been lost, but the loss to property is incalculable. The catastrophe was undoubtedly caused by the earthquake, which was noticeable in Tennesse, Missouri, Kentucky, and Indiana at 12.37 a. m., as the rumbling sounds and vibrations felt were similar to those of a seismic disturbance. Golden Pond is about one hundred miles distant from the spot where a similar catastrophe occurred about seventy years ago, when a lake of large size suddenly disappeared, leaving nothing but the bed, in the center of which was a hole of unfathomable depth and several hundred yards in diameter.

BIRTHDAY STONES.

JANUARY.

By those who in this month are born
No gem save Garnets should be worn;
They will insure you constancy,
True friendship and fidelity.

FEBRUARY.

The February born will find
Sincerity and peace of mind—
Freedom from passion and from care,
If they the Amethyst will wear.

MARCH.

Who on this world of ours their eyes
In March first open, shall be wise,
In days of peril firm and brave,
And wear a Bloodstone to their grave.

APRIL.

Those who in April date their years,
Diamonds should wear, lest bitter tears
For vain repentance flow. This stone
Emblem of innocence is known.

MAY.

Who first beholds the light of day
In Spring's sweet flowery month of May,
And wears an Emerald all her life,
Shall be a loved and happy wife.

JUNE.

Who comes with summer to this earth
And owes to June her day of birth,
With ring of Agate on her hand
Can health and wealth and peace command.

JULY.

The glowing Ruby should adorn
Those who in warm July are born;
Thus will they be exempt and free
From love's doubts and anxiety.

AUGUST.

Wear a Sardonyx, or for thee
No conjugal felicity;
The August born without this stone
'Tis said must live unloved alone.

SEPTEMBER.

A maiden born when autumn's leaves
Are rustling in September's breeze,
A Sapphire on her brow should bind,
'Twill cure diseases of the mind.

OCTOBER.

October's choice is born for woe,
And life's vicissitudes must know;
But lay an Opal on her breast,
And hope will lull these woes to rest.

NOVEMBER.

Who first comes to this world below
With dull November's fog and snow,
Should prize the Topaz amber hue,
Emblem of friends and lovers true.

DECEMBER.

If cold December gave you birth,
The month of snow and ice and mirth,
Place on your hand a Torquoise blue—
Success will bless you if you do.

A Perilous Postponement.

To postpone, when the day for immediate action is clear, is always unwise. Especially is it so when increasing ill health calls for a resort to medication. Diseases of the kidneys and bladder are often of swift growth—always of fatal tendency if not combatted at the outset. We have all—even those of us who are not remarkably well instructed—heard something of the danger attending Bright's disease, diabetes, and other diseases of the kidney or bladder. Let no one be foolhardy enough to procrastinate if he perceives the renal organs to be inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are peculiarly adapted to overcome this inaction, to sufficiently stimulate, without exciting, the kidneys and bladder. Infinitely is this diuretic to be preferred to the impure and fiery stimulants of commerce, which prove the bane of unwary persons with a tendency to renal troubles. They are likewise incomparable for dyspepsia, debility, fever and ague, and billiousness.

It is rumored in Mexican financial circles that an American bank with a large capital will be established with connections in England and France.

Endorsed by the M. D's.

A. M. Robinson, Druggist and Apothecary, Bangor, Me., in a letter dated July 1, 1884, says:—"I have had many prescriptions for Gilmore's Aromatic Wine from one of our best physicians, who learned of its virtues from those who had used it." No remedy ever produced has met with such marked favor from the medical profession. The Company cheerfully furnish any physician a sample of their Aromatic Wine, and not one of the many hundreds who have given it an examination has ever failed to endorse it as a valuable remedy.—All over the country leading physicians are prescribing it, particularly for the numerous ailments to which females are liable. They know there is no purer, safer, or more reliable remedy.

Official returns from 94 counties in Kentucky show a Republican net gain of 26,495. The Democratic majority is expected to be less than 10,000.

Health Officers of New York.

Members of the Board of Health, of New York and Brooklyn and other prominent physicians who have visited Speer's vineyards, use Speer's, N. J., wine for their patients and in their own families, much on account of the iron (blood making property) contained in it from the soil on which Speer's vineyards are situated.—Tribune. Mr. Speer furnishes this wine and his Unfermented Grape Juice to Druggists.

The number of female physicians in New York is now placed at 150, including many whose yearly income runs as high as $10,000.

English Spavin Liniment removes all Hard, Soft, or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from horses, Blood Spavin, Curbs, Splint, Ringbone, Sweeny, Stifles, Sprains, Swellings, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted. Sold by F. Potts Green, Druggist, Bellefonte. 18 3m

Babies that are fretful, peevish, cross, or troubled with Windy Colic, Teething Pains, or Stomach Disorders, can be relieved at once by using Acker's Baby Soother. It contains no Opium or Morphine, hence is safe. Price 25 cents. Sold by WALTER W. BAYARD.

Medical.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Peculiar Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No To Itself other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

COURT PROCLAMATION.—Whereas, the Hon. A. O. Furst, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the 49th judicial district, consisting of the Counties of Centre and Huntingdon and the Hon. Chester Munson and the Hon. Daniel Rhoades, Associate Judges in Centre county, having issued their precept, bearing date the 27th day of July, A. D. 1887, to me directed, for holding a court of Over and Terminer and General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the peace in Bellefonte, for the County of Centre, and to commence on the fourth Monday of August, being the 22d day of August, 1887, and to continue two weeks, notice is hereby given to the Coroner, Justices of the Peace, Aldermen and Constables of said County of Centre, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of the fourth Monday, the 22d day of August, 1887, with their records, inquisitions, examinations, and their own remembrances, to do those things which to their office appertains to be done, and those who are bound in recognizances to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the jail of Centre county, be then and there to prosecute against them as shall be just.

Given under my hand, at Bellefonte, the 27th day of July, in the year of our Lord, 1887, and in the one hundred and twelfth year of the independence of the United States.

NO. 4 RACE ST,

Bellefonte, - Pa.

I have not changed my advertisement for several days so my remarks about coffee have become old. The coffee, however, is all right, and the price low—and sells so fast that I am constantly receiving new lots. The price now is 24, 25, 26 and 27 cents.

I need not meution all my new goods, but I will call your attention to a nice new lot of Hams and Shoulders which I am selling at a very small margin of profit.

I have also just received some very nice jellies—strawberry, currant, pine apple and other varieties—very nice goods and selling fast.

The mess pork is going fast as it is a nice article and should be in every house; every cook would find it a great convenience in many ways.

How do you like my portrait? every eye you see there is watching the market for the benefit of our customers.

Remember the place, No. 4, Race street.

A HANDSOME

GIFT

TO OUR

LADY READERS.

In our issue of August 25th we shall print a Coupon Order entitling the holder to a pattern (free) of the above jacket, in sizes for 34, 36, 38 or 40 inches in bust measure. A pattern of this stylish garment is very useful to any lady, as by simply leaving off the revers a plain jacket is obtained, which is always desirable; and it is such a pattern as every lady should have in the house. There will be no excuse hereafter for Mrs. Smith sending over to borrow a jacket pattern from Mrs. Jones.

We have made arrangements with a New York house to furnish these patterns in the different sizes as above, so that the holder of the Coupon Order may have the size she may desire. This is a great offer, as each pattern has a full value of 25 cents, being accompanied by an illustration, and explicit directions for putting together and making.

Ladies do not fail to buy our issue of August 25th, and cut out the order which will entitle you to this excellent pattern Free

It Went down Six Feet.

CHICAGO, August 3.—A special from Evansville, Ind., referring to the sinking of land in Trigg county, Ky., since the earthquake of Monday night, says:

A gentleman who has just arrived from Hopkinsville says that the country about the scene is low and swampy, and almost inaccessible in places save by old, beaten paths. Much of it is wild and contains large, dense woods. Golden Pond is a mere hamlet, containing two settlements of negroes, who eke out a living by working on several large farms owned by non-residents. Monday night about 6 o'clock several of them felt the earth tremble, but thought nothing serious had occurred beyond a slight tremor, and, after gossipping over it, went to bed. About midnight everybody was awakened by a sharp shock and had hardly jumped to their feet, when the earth with a shaking, dizzy motion, suddenly sank a distance of five feet, carrying houses and terrified darkies with them.

The scenes that ensued baffle description. The negroes fell on their knees, and in frenzied tones prayed the Lord to save them. Others began shouting and praising the Almighty, and ever and anon casting an upward glance to see if chariots of fire were not descending. Added to this pandemonium was the intense darkness which prevailed, the moon being completely obscured by heavy black clouds, which hung very low and like a pall over the doomed district. Rumblings were heard from the depths below, which gradually became louder, and numerous springs, hidden for years, suddenly found an opening and then began to bubble upward in constantly increasing streams.

The terrified inhabitants, not pausing for household goods or chattels, gathered their offspring hurriedly, and rushed away from the doomed spot, and some of them are still putting as much distance between them and the sinking land as possible. The more courageous only fled until they reached safe ground and there waited until daylight, when they ventured back to the scene of the night's terror and gazed sadly upon the ruin spread before them. Over 250 acres of fine farm land, including one magnificent plantation owned by C. Z. Hayden, lay from five to six feet below the level of the surrounding country, and contained about three feet of water from the springs started by the earthquake.

A large area of tobacco and corn will be a total loss. Nearly all the cabins have been torn loose and are floating about in various positions, while household goods are mixed up in inextricable confusion. Fortunately no lives have been lost, but the loss to property is incalculable. The catastrophe was undoubtedly caused by the earthquake, which was noticeable in Tennessee, Missouri, Kentucky, and Indiana at 12.37 a. m., as the rumbling sounds and vibrations felt were similar to those of a seismic disturbance. Golden Pond is about one hundred miles distant from the spot where a similar catastrophe occurred about seventy years ago, when a lake of large area suddenly disappeared, leaving nothing but the bed, in the center of which was a hole of unfathomable depth and several hundred yards in diameter.

Horrible Reports from China.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—The Occidental and Oriental steamer Gaelic arrived last night from the Orient, after a very quick passage of fourteen days and nine minutes. She brings Yokohama papers up to July 19 and China news to July 11. S. S. Popoff, Chinese secretary to the Russian legation in Peking, has just published a pamphlet on the Chinese population, which he states to be 382,000,000 as against 413,000,000 in the year 1842. His statistics are derived from Chinese official sources.

The Chinese native papers contain the following items: "Plague of sudden death is raging at Nanking. People are dying in every quarter, and there are many instances of very sudden deaths. People are apparently well in the morning and dead in the afternoon.

The Hu Pay says that over 1,000 telegraph poles belonging to the Munan Mingtaz district and Kweichow Lane line have been pulled down by the people, who say the telegraph is a diabolical European artifice. Troops to the number of 2,000 have been ordered to the spot.

Last week, according to the Shen Pao, no less than 88 persons were summarily executed near Shanghai for belonging to secret societies. The Shen Pao gives harrowing accounts of floods at Chu Chou Fu, up the Wenchow river. Over 1,000 human beings have been swept away and the destruction of growing crops is immense.

Six Already Dead.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., August 3.—A terrible accident occurred this morning at the ruins of the St. Anthony elevators, which burned July 10. There was a large amount of damaged wheat which was sold as salvage to a syndicate here. A party of twelve workmen were on the south side of the ruins this morning, where a stone wall was still left standing. They had taken away all the wheat outside of this wall, leaving it with no support on the outside, and a large mass of wheat pressing out from the inside. Shortly after 8 o'clock the whole wall fell, burying beneath it the entire party.

There was not a sound of warning and the great mass of stone and wheat toppled over as silently as if it had been sponge falling on velvet. The work of digging the victims out was immediately begun. So far seven have been taken out—six of them dead. Gus Brown, P. P. Anderson, Ed. Markey, John Johnson and Thomas Dempsey have been identified. One of the bodies is unidentified. Amund Erieson, one of the men recovered, is but slightly injured.

Little Girl and Big Bear.

PHŒNICIA, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Little Maggie Curran is five years old and is as brave as she is pretty. Maggie lives with her father in Mink Hollow, in the Catskill mountains. When William Curran left his home yesterday morning to work at haymaking he told his daughter she might try and pick some blackberries close by. By 9 o'clock Maggie had a large dinner pail half full of tempting looking fruit, when she was suddenly startled by seeing a big bear come out from a dense thicket and come toward her. Maggie said "sho!" a number of times, but the bear merely growled. Then she picked up a thick stick and hit the intruder a crack over the head. At this point the bear caught hold of her dress and began dragging her into the woods.

The little girl screamed lustily for help, and it came speedily in the shape of her father's watch-dog Carlo. The intelligent animal seemed to grasp the situation at a glance, and it attacked the bear in the rear, so as to make it drop the child. Carlo bit the brute so effectively that it was forced to let Maggie go, and then the courageous dog kept fighting Bruin for all he was worth, so that the child could have a chance to run home, and she improved it. After she got there, the whole neighborhood turned out, and the mountain side was thoroughly scoured. Carlo was found with the blood running down his sides, and as he wagged his tail he seemed to say: "I saved Maggie, anyway."

The pursuit of Bruin is still being kept up, though it is believed by old hunters that it is hiding in a cave. There isn't money enough in all the Catskills to buy Carlo to-night. The thrilling adventure is the theme of the countryside, and little Maggie is asked to tell her story over and over again.

Will Meet in Boston.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—The Catholic Total Abstinence union this afternoon by a vote of 568 to 287 decided to reject the resolutions providing that the convention support the legislative amendments for the entire restriction of the liquor traffic. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows. President, Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, of Worcester, Mass.; vice president, Rev. Thomas E. Walsh, of Notre Dame College, Ind.; treasurer, Rev. Philip J. Garrigan, of Fitchburg, Mass.; secretary, Philip A. Nolan, of Philadelphia. The next convention will be held in Boston on Wednesday, the 28th day of August, 1888.

This evening a grand banquet was given the delegates at the Academy of Music. Covers were laid for 400, and the event was made most enjoyable by reason of the happy vein in which the various toasts were responded to. To-morrow the delegates will visit the various points of interest in the city, and on Saturday will go on an excursion to Atlantic City, where they will be tendered a grand reception.

A Very Poor Shot.

GALVESTON, Tex., August 4.—At about 10.30 o'clock last night Major B. W. Temple, formerly chief engineer of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railroad, quarreled with Alandus Cushman, a sewing machine repairer, on Centre street. Cushman applied opprobrious epithets to Temple, and the latter attempted to draw his revolver. In doing so one of the cartridges exploded, inflicting a dangerous wound in the thigh. Not deterred by this he succeeded in getting the pistol out of his pocket and fired the remaining five charges at Cushman in rapid succession. All went wide of their mark except one, which took effect in Cushman's left wrist. Another of the bullets buried itself in the groin of Joseph Cuney, a prominent colored man who was passing on the other side of the street when the encounter occurred. Temple's wound is looked upon as the most serious, and doubts are entertained as to his recovery.

Virginia Democrats.

ROANOKE, Va., August 4.—In the democratic state convention, which met here to-day, the platform adopted endorses Cleveland's administration; demands the repeal of the internal revenue system; favors the raising of a revenue for the support of the government by a tariff upon imports limited to the necessities of the government economically administered and so adjusted as to prevent unequal burdens; encouraging productive interests, but not to foster monopolies. The resolution referring to the public debt approves the action of the last general assembly in refusing to accept the terms proposed by the bondholders in connection with the settlement of the public debt, and declares that the party will never sanction any adjustment of the debt which shall impose a larger liability upon the state than that provided for by the Riddleberger bill.

Briefs.

LYNCHBURG, Va., August 3.—In a shooting match at the fair grounds today between Dr. Carver and W. H. Mitchell, Carver broke the world's record. He killed fifty pigeons, making a clean score. Mitchell killed forty-two, missing eight.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—Mrs. Cleveland expects to be absent about ten days or two weeks. The president has made no plans for a vacation in the immediate future. He may go away for a short trip, however, some time this month.

PHILADELPHIA, August 3.—To-day's session of the Catholic Total Abstinence union was devoted to hearing reports of officers and of subordinate unions. Mr. T. V. Powderly was present as a delegate and was invited to address the convention but excused himself, stating that he would speak at the public meeting at the Academy of Music in the evening.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., August 3.—At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to-day resolutions were adopted inviting President and Mrs. Cleveland, on behalf of the people of Allegheny City, to visit this district during their proposed western tour.

Death of a United States Consul.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., August 4.—Hon. Allen Francis, United States consul, who was struck by a hose-cart at the recent railway disaster here and badly injured, died suddenly at 12.10 o'clock this morning. He had been confined to his room ever since the accident, but his condition was not thought to be critical. At 11.30 o'clock last night, while sitting up talking cheerfully, he was seized with paralysis of the heart, brought on by the shock sustained in the accident, and died soon after.

Mr. Francis was 73 years of age and was for over twenty years consul for the United States at Victoria, B. C., and for the past three years had been United States consul at St. Thomas and Port Stanley. He has a daughter living on Staten Island. His family reside at Victoria, B. C., and none of his relatives were at his bedside when he died. Flags are floating at half mast on all the public buildings. The funeral will take place to-morrow here.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetation remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after testing its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human sufferings, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full direction for preparing and using. ### The Soldiers.

LEBANON, Pa., Aug. 4.—The trouble in the transportation of troops to Mt. Gretna, growing out of differences between the Philadelphia and Reading and Cornwall and Lebanon railroads, was settled this evening after an interview between General Passenger Agent Hancock, of the Philadelphia and Reading road, the Cornwall and Lebanon road officials and Adjutant General Hastings. In order to facilitate the business of the State, the Cornwall company officials agreed to permit the transfer of troops from the Philadelphia and Reading to the Cornwall and Lebanon road at Lebanon, leaving the trouble for future adjustment by reference to Governor Beaver. After a day's detention at Cornwall, peace now reigns.

AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION

Proposed to the citizens of this Commonwealth for their approval or rejection by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the commonwealth:

SECTION 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment of the constitution of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

AMENDMENT.

Strike out from section one of article eight, the four qualifications for voters which reads as follows:

"If twenty-two years of age or upwards, he shall have paid, within two years, a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months, and paid at least one month before the election," so that the section which reads as follows:

"Every male citizen, twenty one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections:

First. He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

Second. He shall have resided in the state one year (or if, having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen of the state, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months) immediately preceding the election.

Third. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

Fourth. If twenty-two years of age or upwards, he shall have paid, within two years, a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election," shall be amended, so as to read as follows:

Every male citizen twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at the polling place of the election district of which he shall at the time be a resident and not elsewhere:

First. He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least thirty days.

Second. He shall have resided in the state one year (or if, having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen of the state, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months) immediately preceding the election.

Third. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least thirty days immediately preceding the election. The legislature, at the session thereof, next after the adoption of this section, shall, and from time to time thereafter may, enact laws to properly enforce this provision.

Fourth. Every male citizen of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a citizen for thirty days and an inhabitant of this state one year next preceding an election, except at municipal elections, and for the last thirty days a resident of the election district in which he may offer his vote, shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time be a resident and not elsewhere for all officers that now are or hereafter may be elected by the people: Provided, That in time of war no elector in the actual military service of the State or of the United States, in the army or navy thereof, shall be deprived of his vote by reason of his absence from such election district, and the legislature shall have power to provide the manner in which and the time and place at which such absent electors may vote, and for the return and canvass of their votes in the election district in which they respectively reside.

Fifth. For the purpose of voting, no person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence by reason of his presence or absence while employed in the service of the United States or the State, nor while engaged in the navigation of the waters of the State or of the high seas, nor while a student of any college or seminary of learning, nor while kept at any almshouse or public institution, except the inmates of any home for disabled and indigent soldiers, who, for the purpose of voting, shall be deemed to reside in the election district where said home is located. Laws shall be made for ascertaining, by proper proofs, the citizens who shall be entitled to the right of suffrage hereby established.

—Three or four of the streets of Bellefonte have become very handsome, the improvement having taken place during the past two years. Linn street is among these thoroughfares, and its equal cannot be found in any town of the same size in this vicinity. The removal of nearly all the division fences was an important item in securing this result.

—Don't neglect to hasten the work of repairs and improvements to the grounds of the new public school building. The sooner they are put in good condition the better it will be. Then there will be no reason to postpone the time of opening the schools, and pupils and teachers will have everything pleasant and complete around them, making school work much more successful.

A WORTHLESS COMPANY DISBANDED.

THE FIFTH REGIMENT BETTER WITHOUT IT.

SILLY AND ILL-ADVISED COMMENTS OF AN ALTOONA PAPER.

As our readers are doubtless aware, Company D, N. G. P., of Tyrone, was disbanded in time to prevent its few straggling and unsoldierly members from going to the State encampment. We suppose that the order of disbandment emanated from Adjutant General Hastings. We have reason to believe so solely because he usually knows how to do the proper thing at the right time. In doing so he has conferred a favor on the Fifth Regiment and incidentally on Colonel Theo. Burchfield, the Colonel of that regiment. Some of the reasons may be given—

The Fifth regiment, especially since General Hastings was its Colonel, has maintained a very high standard in the National Guard of the State. It is reasonable to believe that Colonel Hastings had much to do in elevating it to its present standard. But some of the companies connected with it were far behind others in all points of military discipline and proficiency. Positively the poorest company in the regiment was Company D, of Tyrone. Two inspections of it have recently been held. At the first it made a very bad showing, and at the second it was even worse. The evidence was unalterable that its attendance at camp would be only a disgrace to the Fifth, and for the benefit of faithful soldiers as well as for the Colonel of the Fifth it was disbanded. Colonel Burchfield should be grateful to the General for what he has done—the other companies of the regiment certainly will.

The Tyrone daily paper does not seem to entertain any resentment toward General Hastings because of his order. It being on the ground, understands the situation and knows that the order was justisfiable—even needful. But the Altoona Times is acting the part of the long-eared mule by slinging personalities at General Hastings and even questioning his competency. General Hastings' experience as Colonel at two encampments is sufficient proof of his ability. He is eminently well equipped in natural gifts and has availed himself of every opportunity to gain experience. As such he knows his duty as Adjutant General and has performed it in disbanding this company, some of the members of which, report says, do not know a broomstick from a gun.

—The conductors on some of the trains of the Pennsylvania railroad do not call out the names of the stations sufficiently distinct and at times neglect to call them out at all. As a consequence, on Thursday, a gentleman passed such an important station as Lock Haven without knowing it. He came from Williamsport and intended to get off at Lock Haven. But the car was switched into Bald Eagle road and was on its way toward Millhall, when the conductor came around and demanded tickets. "Why, you took mine," said the gentleman. "Well, you should have gotten off at Lock Haven," retorted the conductor. "Beg pardon, sir; but you did not announce that the train had reached Lock Haven." He appealed to other passengers and all agreed that there had been no announcement of the station. The conductor wanted to put the young man off the train, but he knew his rights and remained on until Millhall was reached, compelling the Pennsylvania railroad to haul him back to Lock Haven free of charge. It would be well to announce the names at least of such an important station as Lock Haven, and that, too, distinctly.

The Undines.

The Undine Hose Company reorganized on Thursday evening, the following officers being elected:

President—V. J. Bauer.
Vice-President—P. H. Gerrity.
Secretary—E. C. Woods.
Treasurer—Geo. L. Potter.
Chief—Walter Gerrity.
1st Assistant—George Smith.
2d Assistant—W. O'Leary.
3d Assistant—Thos. Brown.

By the way, the Undines are going to have a very comfortable and convenient hose house. It is located on Logan St., and will be finished next week. On the first floor is an apartment sufficiently large for the hose cart and hose. A tar floor is being made for this room, which will keep in better condition than a wood floor. On the second floor is an apartment suitable for meeting and also two ante rooms where garments and superfluous articles may be stored.

To Test Ties and Rails.

There will soon be made on the Pennsylvania Railroad a test of certain new features in ties and rails which are now being used on the London and Northwestern Railroad. The tests will be made upon four sections between Pittsburg and New York, one upon a level, another upon a grade, the third upon a curve and the fourth upon a bee-line. Steel ties are to be used, and the rail will be held by a key resting in a chair on the tie. The chair consists of three steel strips, one of which is placed between the tie and the rail, so as to stiffen the latter locality and prevent the weight from breaking through the thin steel tie. The other two pieces of the chair hold the rail laterally. After the rail is dropped into the chair the key is driven parallel with it and holds it firmly to the gauge. The engineer department of the company is having rails made to weigh 100 pound to the yard, which are to be put down as an experiment. These will be 20 pounds to the yard heavier than any now in use.

A Delightful Social Event.

Forty or fifty guests thronged Mr. Daniel Rhoades' handsome residence on Thursday evening. These guests were all young, unmarried people, representative of the various social circles of our town, limited only in numbers. The music by the Lyon Orchestra was all that could be desired. Mr. Rhoades' residence is admirably adapted to such affairs, the rooms being spacious. The apartment on the eastern side of the house, which extends its entire length, was cleared of all its furniture and afforded a very excellent place for dancing. The temperature was not so warm as to render dancing at all disagreeable.

At 12.30 o'clock a rest was taken from dancing and choice refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades exerted themselves in entertaining their guests and their powers in that direction are well known.

Sudden Death of Mr. Michael Myers.

On Wednesday afternoon, between 3 and 5 o'clock, Mr. Michael Myers was found dead in his house. We believe he was lying on the floor and had fallen from a chair. His death must have been very sudden, as he had been to Mr. Garbrick's farm during the early part of the afternoon, where he complained of illness.

His home is near Purdue's mountain. He is one of the best known men in the county and is said to have been eighty-two years of age. He leaves a wife and a large family, all of whom have reached mature age. Mr. Myers was exceedingly social and kind by nature. He frequently, when well, made trips to Bellefonte. His surviving family have our sympathy and will have the earnest condolence of a large circle of friends.

—The Kismet club had a delightful time on Wednesday night. They had the Italian orchestra in front of the club-room which discoursed lively music while the people stood around in groups and listened. The members of the club also sang numerous sentimental songs which sounded very sweetly in the moonlight air. The singers include some pleasing and cultivated voices which harmonize excellently. At about 10.30 o'clock the club room was cleared of its furniture and dancing was commenced, there being a large representation of the fair friends of the members present. All who were there pronounced it an immense success.

—There is no town which has a better orchestra than that composed of Messrs. Lyon and Bierley and Prof. Hayden, and the fact that there is such a musical combination here should be duly appreciated. The orchestra is proficient in its method of rendering music and enterprising in the kind of music which it is prepared to give. The most modern compositions are received by the orchestra and practiced until learned perfectly. This places them on a par with any musical organization in the large cities. We consider that when an orchestra is in demand for parties, balls, or other similar festivities this very superior company of artists should be engaged, even if the expense is higher than for inferior musicians.

Letter List.

Following is a complete list of the letters remaining uncalled for in the postoffice at Bellefonte, Centre county, Penn'a, August 1, 1887:

Catharine Derry, David A. Gingrick, W. P. Hartman, George Hazel, Miss Bertha Keller, H. S. Miller, Miss Della Stiver, E. T. R. P. Tulan, J. Wilson, Stanley Watson, Matthew J. Wall, Mrs. Emma A. Witen, Bruce Walker, John Zellers.

Persons inquiring for letters named in the above list will please say advertised.

A Bride's Attire.

All ladies are interested in the attire of a bride, especially when the bride is such a beautiful young lady as Miss Sarah M. Hoffer, now Mrs. Robert Hayes, whose wedding occurred on Wednesday.

She was dressed in a cream colored Bengaline silk, trimmed with tulle, and made en train. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white rosebuds. According to uniform testimony of those who saw her she was the loveliest bride of the season.

—During a thunder storm on Tuesday afternoon a house at Empire mine, near Philipsburg, was struck by lightning. Of the inmates Jean Baptiste Boiere and his 10-year-old daughter were knocked senseless. The man was partially paralyzed and his nose burned. The girl's right side is paralyzed, her lungs congested, and it is feared she will lose her right eye and, perhaps, die.

—It wasn't Mary's famous lamb, but another lamb which escaped from a drove of the innocent animals the other day and ran into a school room at Millheim, where Miss McElroy is conducting a private school. The lamb ran upon the platform and gazed at the pupils, some of whom were greatly startled by the occurrence.

A Lecture on Teaching.

The lecture delivered in Unionville, on Tuesday evening, by Dr. E. H. Magill, President of Swarthmore College, on "The Proper Relation between Schools and Colleges," was indeed instructive in important facts and convincing in the inexorable logic in the speaker's plan. After first explaining the requisites of the successful school teacher and the true dignity of his calling, the lecture dwelt on the present condition of common schools and the much-abused profession of teaching; and in conclusion proposed a plan for the proper adjustment of affairs in public education. We cannot state his plan in full. He would first require teachers to have a more thorough education, to be graduates of colleges and to be paid for their work in proportion to the importance and dignity of the occupation. This would be much preferable to the present small pay of teachers and the general degradation of the profession. We have the professions of law, medicine, etc., which he who enters may make a life work. Much more important is it that the public support what can be truly called a profession within the line of teaching. That educational reform is needed few will deny. The plans proposed are various. Dr. Magill has his own, which in time will no doubt be adopted in substance at least by the public. He is at present filling appointments under the auspices of the Society of Friends throughout this and other states.

—The yards surrounding the handsome residences of this place present a very beautiful appearance at present, one of the chief features being the superb floral decorations which are so plentiful. The yard in front of J. V. Thomas' residence is daily becoming more lovely and just now contains a beautiful collection of rare flowers. Prominent among them is a symmetrical althea tree, covered with bright scarlet blossoms. All through the yard and along the walks are bright blossoms giving it a variety of color. Petunias, portucallas, geraniums, double yellow hollyhocks, etc., are all flourishing wonderfully. Mr. Thomas has a comfortable and lovely home and he and his family enjoy it greatly.

—The celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the adoption of the constitution of the United States will begin in Philadelphia on September 15. On that day will occur the processional display and in the evening Governor Beaver will hold a reception in honor of the governors of the States and Territories present at the celebration. On the 16th will be the military display and a reception in the evening in honor of the President of the United States. The oration and other special commemorative exercises will occur on the 17th. The Pennsylvania Railroad will sell excursion tickets from September 8 till the 17th, good to return [illegible] till the 22d.

—The Garman [illegible] being finished rapidly and in many respects will be the best appointed hotel in the town. The dining room, especially, is a beauty. The hard wood work in this as well as the other rooms will be finished in the highest style of the art. The dining room is large enough to seat eighty guests. The kitchen is finished on a similar style of elegance, the range being of the most modern kind. Electricity will furnish the light for the hotel. Electric bells and every recent invention for convenience and comfort will be used.

—Thursday evening was quite a notable one in the number of festivities indulged in by Bellefonters. The most important was the annual party given at the home of our excellent citizen, Mr. Daniel Rhoads. A large and congenial company assembled. The house and grounds were tastefully decorated. The choicest music was rendered by Mr. Lyon's orchestra, consisting of Mr. Jacob Lyon, Mr. Bierley and Prof. Hayden. The Coronet Hook and Ladder ball attracted, as it should, a large attendance. The music was inspiring and the dancing spirited.

—On Friday Mr. Miles Kephart of Unionville came as far as Snow Shoe Intersection on the freight train. He waited at the Intersection about twenty minutes for the passenger, which he attempted to jump on as it was pulling out at quite a lively rate of speed. In doing so he was thrown down, his shoulder, hip, back and legs all receiving injuries. Dr. Harris reports that none of his injuries are serious. No bones are broken and he will soon be quite well again.

—The National Educator offered that paper for a year to any teacher who would get married during this vacation. Miss Mary Waddle, of Lock Haven, Pa., has notified the editor of the Educator that she is "about to leave the pedagogic ranks, at the earnest solicition of one of the sterner sex." Miss Waddle is well known here and there are many people in Bellefonte and vicinity who will wish her much happiness.

—The other day Mr. Shuman Zimmerman, of Hecla Furnace, was riding along the road, when he saw a large object extending across the path, obstructing his onward course. He thought it was a tree and was going to remove it by the usual method—either by kicking it or hurling it aside with his hands—when, to his surprise, it squirmed around and offered to fight. He was about on top of the largest black snake he ever saw. The eyes of the snake gleamed dangerously and Mr. Zimmerman stepped back to reconnoitre. In the emergency, he pulled out his revolver and shot the snake's head, killing him instantly. The snake measured seventeen feet in length.

A New Organization in Philipsburg.

Another castle of the Knights of the Golden Eagle has been organized in Centre county. Philipsburg Castle, No. 193, of Philipsburg, will be instituted on Friday evening, Aug. 12, by District Grand Chiefs T. B. Jamison and Wm. Cowan, assisted by Sir Knights of Clearfield Castle, No. 155, of Karthaus, and Centre Castle, No. 169, of Spring Mills.

The application for a charter contains nearly one hundred names of the most prominent citizens of the borough and vicinity.

The following officers will be installed:

Past Chief, James McKean; Noble Chief, W. F. Olewine; Vice Chief, A. J. McClellan; High Priest, Harry Martyn; Venerable Hermit, Geo. E. Lamb; Master of Records, James Mowrey; Clerk of Exchequer, B. F. Dixon; Keeper of Exchequer, S. S. Crissman; Sir Herald, D. T. Williams; Worthy Bard, B. F. Swartz; Worthy Chamberlain, Geo. R. Filar; Ensign, Wm. T. Todd; Esquire, Wm. Steinrock; First Guardsman, A. B. Bishop; Second Guardsman, Geo. B. McClellan; Trustees, John Callahan, D. T. Williams, and Henry Vaughn.

A Dinner in the Woods.

A few days ago a representative of this paper was traveling along in the vicinity of Loveland's works, at Lamar, Clinton county. He resolved to visit Mr. H. Zeigler's saw mill in Little Sugar Valley. To resolve was to do and the aforesaid representative soon found himself at Mr. Zeigler's headquarters in the woods. Mr. Zeigler was in the building where he and his crew of jolly workmen take their meals. He was in a particularly good humor and the newspaper man could not resist the cordial invitation to join them in the noon day meal. Besides Mr. Zeigler, were his two sons, Mr. Delaney, Mr. Dorman and Mr. Treaster. The last mentioned claims to be the champion dish washer of Centre county. Perhaps some female readers of this paper will be willing to dispute this claim made by Mr. Treaster. The dinner was greatly enjoyed and the aforesaid representative is anxious to take another similar dinner with the same crew. There are many more men in the woods in that vicinity, but they board themselves. The men mentioned always eat at the same table and lead happy lives.

Judge Rhoades.

The title, "Judge," has never been more worthily bestowed in Centre county, and certainly cannot be more creditably held than by the gentleman who, on Friday, received the appointment of Associate Judge. We refer to our friend, Mr. Daniel Rhoades. Judge Rhoades is, personally, most admirably fitted for judicial honors. He is large in figure, weighty in avoirdupoize, possessed of the highest intelligence and strongest common sense, and thoroughly respected by all. Perhaps he is too kindly and benignant to assume judicial sternness or to administer severe penalty untempered by mercy. But in his ideas of duty he will certainly be inflexible.

It must have been a pleasure for Gov. Beaver to appoint Mr. Rhoades to the position, and Democrats as well as Republicans here praise the Governor's wise selection. With Judges Munson and Rhoades to aid Judge Furst in his duties nothing more can be desired.

Charcoal Sheds Converted into a Furnace.

A serious fire occurred on Saturday morning at 1 o'clock in the charcoal sheds at Curtin's Works. A wagon laden with charcoal was near the sheds. The charcoal in the wagon was on fire, though unnoticed by anyone. This soon increased into quite a blaze which communicated to the sheds. These sheds were about two-thirds full of charcoal. They were consumed by the fire and the charcoal was still burning at 6 o'clock, though about sixty men were at work endeavoring to extinguish the fire by covering the charcoal with dirt. The Messrs. Curtin sent to Bellefonte for a quantity of provisions for the men's breakfast that morning. The sheds are insured, though we understand there is no insurance on the charcoal.

—Our friends, the Democrats, have often challenged us to point to any evil effects of a Democratic victory. To our surprise, a Democratic victory causes a fall not only in the price of securities and values but in the very land itself. In Kentucky there was a Democratic victory on Tuesday and on Wednesday 200 acres of land sank a distance of six feet, as narrated in full in the telegraph dispatch.

Interest to be Paid.

A Bellefonte gentleman received the following telegram Thursday, Aug. 9, from Washington. He kindly permits us to publish it:

The Secretary of the Treasury has given notice that he will pay interest on government bonds to January, 1888, less 2 per cent. rebate, and offers to buy $4,500,000 for sinking fund.

A Case of Deafness Cured.

Office of Shaw & Baldwin's Wholesale Notion House, Toledo, O., Dec. 11, '79.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.—Dear Sirs: About three months ago, noticing a letter addressed to you in the Bee from Gen. Slevin, in reference to the cure of his son by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure, we were induced to commence the use of it for our daughter Nellie now fourteen years old, who has been suffering from catarrh for about eight years, during which time she has been treated by one of the best physicians in the city. We have also tried the use of almost all the known remedies for catarrh, with no more success than temporary relief. Many nights have we laid awake to hold her mouth open to keep her from strangling. Her hearing had also become affected. We were afraid that she would never recover. We have now used six bottles of HALL'S CATARRH CURE, and we believe Nellie to be entirely cured. In a few days after commencing the use of it we noticed a decided change for the better, and from that right along she has improved, until now she breathes as easily as any one. She sleeps well and her hearing is perfectly good. We feel that the disease is entirely removed. We write this unsolicited letter, feeling that it is due you, and with the hope that others may be benefitted in like manner. We can hardly realize that such a change could be effected in so short a time after battling with the disease so long. We are still using the remedy at intervals, as it seems to build up her system. You are at liberty to use this in any manner you see proper. We are yours, truly,

MR. and MRS. S. BALDWIN,
220 Franklin Avenue.

Trial List.

Trial list for the first week of August term, 1887, commencing on the 4th Monday, (22d day) of August:

Frank B. Stover vs. J. C. Harper et ux. Clement Dale for plaintiff.

P. Gray Meek vs. Wm. V. Emery et al. A. Hoy for plaintiff; Beaver, Gephart & Dale for defendant.

John F. Potter vs. David Harter, Potter for plaintiff, Keller for defendant.

John F. Potter vs. David Harter. Same attorneys.

H. D. Vanpelt vs. Penn'a R. R. Company. Spangler & Hewes for plaintiff; Blanchard for defendant.

W. M. Swab vs. Penn'a R. R. Company. C. Dale for plaintiff; Blanchard for defendant.

—J. Mellville Reese Dill, a brother of United States Marshall Andrew H. Dill, was a business man in Somerset county. He went with his brother, on Tuesday of this week, to Philadelphia, to be treated for hemorrhoids by Drs. Hayes Agnew and J. W. White. Ether, the safest known anæsthetic, was administered in the usual way in small quantities. Soon after the operation began he ceased to breathe, and all efforts to revive him proved futile. The doctors have treated hundreds of patients in the same way without once causing any injury. It is said that Marshall Dill is greatly incensed at the doctors and wrote Dr. Agnew a very severe letter on the subject. The occurrence was extremely unfortunate. The body was taken on Thursday to Marshall Dill's home in Lewisburg.

—The youths of our town are certainly musically inclined, their specialty being vocalism. In addition to the Kismet club, which gave a moonlight concert, there is a company of young boys who are their rivals in rendering nocturnes. They were heard on Friday night. Some people say they excel the Kismet, but we have not listened to them sufficiently to venture an opinion.

—We call attention of our lady friends to the "Handsome Gift" that we will make them in our issue of Aug. 15. Every lady should buy a copy of that date, as it will be an opportunity such as rarely occurs. See our announcement elsewhere.

At Night always have Acker's Baby Soother at hand. It is the only safe medicine yet made that will remove all infantile disorders. It contains no Opium or Morphine, but gives the child natural ease from pain. Price 25 cents. Sold by WALTER W. BAYARD.

Local Department.

—Decidedly fresh Monday morning.

—One more warm wave is predicted.

—The mosquito is collecting his bill.

—E. L. Garman's birthday was on Sunday last.

—The mercury on Monday marked 49° in the shade.

—Oh, but it was warm on Tuesday inside the Court House!

—If you look for Francis Speer's mustache, lo, it is not there.

—The special train to Lemont departed at 7.30 o'clock on Tuesday evening.

—Strong and able sermons were delivered in the several churches of this place on Sunday.

—The Roman Catholic picnic is to be held in Valentines' woods on Wednesday, the 24th inst.

—Yes, the flies are a greater nuisance this summer than ever before. Our only consolation is that they may be of some use.

—The attendance at the Presbyterian Sunday-school festival at Hunter's Station, on Saturday, was very largely attended.

Rev. W. W. Anstadt, of York, Pa., will fill the pulpit of the Lutheran church on next Sunday, and also on the following Sunday.

—The Philadelphia papers, Saturday morning, recorded the arrival, on Friday, at Haddon Hall, Atlantic City, of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. H. Hayes.

—Bayard & Cunningham on Monday began their important work of laying pavement around the new school house. They expect to have it finished soon.

—Tuesday was David Glenn's birthday. The Democrats appointed their Court House jamboree then especially to celebrate the great event in Mr. Glenn's life.

—The soldiers at Camp Hancock are having a grand time and are enjoying the present delightful weather. No accident has occurred to mar their pleasure.

—The congregation and Sunday-school of St. John's Protestant Episcopal parish will hold a picnic on Wednesday of next week, 17th inst. Further particulars will be announced in a future issue.

—A game of base ball will be played on the Fair ground next Friday afternoon. The opposing nines will be composed of the best players in town. It will surely be interesting and numerous spectators are expected.

—We are requested to state that a gentleman, who, some time ago, somewhat reluctantly, made a subscription to the Y. M. C. A., just paid up his subscription in full and was quite anxious to renew it, being thoroughly impressed that it was a profitable investment.

—The Roman Catholic picnic, to occur on Wednesday, the 24th inst., will be, as usual, an extensive affair. Dinner will be provided at 50 cents each and supper for 25 cents. It will be for the benefit of the new church building and thus is entitled to the patronage and help of the entire community.

—There was beautiful weather at Mt. Gretna on Sunday and 30,000 visitors were present. The camp is essentially a temperance one, as the owner of the grounds, Mr. Robert Coleman, will not permit any intoxicating drinks to be admitted to the ground, though some was smuggled in. The discipline of the camp is very fine.

The Misses Tillie and Victorine Lyon, sisters of Mr. Moyer Lyon, the merchant, have spent the two past weeks at the sea shore, and expect to remain until September. These ladies are not only accomplished, but also make themselves eminently useful, and are much missed. We hope the soft and invigorating sea breezes will benefit them.

—The suit which has been in progress in the Clearfield court to collect a collateral inheritance tax from the estate of John DuBois, ended on Saturday. Judge Krebs rendered a decision in favor of the State. It is supposed that the case will be carried to the Supreme Court. But, without doubt, that court will sustain the court below which will give the state $136,500.

—We notice with regret that Mr. Joe W. Furey, of the Lock Haven Democrat, don't think very much of Rev. Sam Jones; indeed, he writes disrespectfully of that noted gentleman. Come now, Joe; that's wrong. It makes no difference whether they are Salvation armies, Sam Joneses or who they are; if they preach the Gospel truths they must be listened to with respect, even if they have a "peculiar way."

—The train which came on the B. N. and L. road Tuesday a. m. was chuck full of Democrats who came to the convention. The two passenger coaches and their platforms were brimful and running over, with dozens suspended perilously on the ragged edges. Then there was a box car in the rear which also contained its living freight which protruded out above the sides of the car much as so many birds from a nest.

ALL THE AFTERNOON.

Centre County Democrats Spend Four Solid Hours in the Court House.

THEY NOMINATE A COMPLETE COUNTY TICKET.

The ticket nominated by the Democratic convention in session in this place on Tuesday afternoon is as follows:

Associate Judge—John Grove, of Gregg township.

Sherift—John Noll, of Bellefonte.

Treasurer—James Kimport, of Harris township.

Register—John A. Rupp, of College township.

Recorder—W. Galer Morrison, of Worth township.

Commissioners—A. J. Griest, of Unionville, and M. S. Fiedler, of Haines township.

Auditors—F. F Jamison and H A McKee.

It took a long time to make these nominations. The convention consisted of eighty-seven delegates, but when we arrived the court room was already jammed to suffocation, and we are indebted to James Schofield, Joseph Fox, Michael Morrison and several other Democrats for providing us with a very excellent seat at the reporter's table.

We found that H. Y. Stitzer, Esq., had already been selected for chairman. Jno. T. McCormick was made reading clerk and an arduous duty he had to fulfill, reading over the eighty-seven names twenty-seven times. R. E. Munson, of Philipsburg, and F. O. Hosterman, of Haines township, were secretaries, and Will Pearlstein aided as teller.

Business was commenced before the appointed time—2 o'clock.

The gentlemen named for associate judge were Henry Beck, of Miles township, John Rishel, of Centre Hall, and John Grove, of Gregg township. The last named gentleman obtained the nomination without a contest.

The most obstinate struggle of the afternoon was for sheriff, nine long ballots being taken. The gentleman named being Andrew Ocker, of Miles township; John Noll, of Bellefonte; Oscar Holt, of Burnside township; J. J. Hoy, of Marion township; John B. Condo, of Gregg township; Orin Vail, of Rush; J. Adams Hasel, of Spring, and J. Q. Miles, of Huston. After the first ballot Mr. Hasel withdrew. Messrs. Noll and Miles showed the greatest strength on first ballot and held it until the contest confined itself to those two. On the ninth ballot Noll received 49 and Miles 38.

Six gentlemen were put in nomination Treasurer, viz., John F. Krebs, of Ferguson township; Joseph Smith, of Gregg Samuel F. Kline, of Howard; James Kimport, of Harris; George W. Spangler, of Potter; and Jacob Eisenhuth, of Millheim. The count of ballot No. 5 gave Kimport 49 and Spangler 38.

While five names were put forward for the nomination for register, one of them—William H. Williams, of Worth township—was withdrawn before a ballot was taken. But five ballots were necessary, each gentleman seeming to be equally popular. They were: John A. Rupp, of College township; W. J. Carlin, of Miles township; G. W. Rumberger, of Unionville, and A. B. Herd, of Philipsburg. The last ballot stood—Rupp 51, Herd 36.

Another five-ballot contest followed for recorder, the names being: C. O. Mallory, of Gregg township; A. Sternberg, of this place; D. L. Zerbe, of Millheim; W. Galer Morrison, of Worth township, and John S. Gray, of Philipsburg. There was a shout when Morrison received 51 and Zerbe 36. A correction of five votes cast for Morrison which it was claimed should have been given to Zerbe changed the final vote to Morrison 46, Zerbe 41.

Not much time was spent in choosing two candidates for commissioner. The collection from which selection could be made consisted of H. L. Harvey, A. J. Griest, of Unionville; G. L. Goodhart, of Potter; M. S. Fiedler, of Haines; Jacob Emerick, of Penn; Joseph Gates, of Ferguson, and J. P. Shope, of Milesburg. Griest received 51 and Fiedler 49, which represented a majority of the votes cast.

For auditors the convention nominees were J. A. Dinges, F. F. Jamison, R. A. Bumiller and H. A. McKee. Jamison received 58, McKee 57.

The four delegates appointed to attend the State Convention at Allentown are A. Sternberg, Bellefonte; Abram Weber, of Howard; W. Miles Walker, Bellefonte, and A. A. Walters, of Millheim.

A. J. Graham, of Philipsburg, was made a member of the State Central Committee.

The convention, by acclamation, said that Aaron Williams, Esq., shall be county chairman next year.

The time was so late that very few persons were present when the disjointed and crude resolutions were blundered through with. They said a good word for Cleveland; reaffirmed the National Democratic platform of Chicago; criticised Governor Beaver; said that the candidate for Supreme Judge must not be a monopolist, etc.

A delegate named Alexander was endeavoring to force through some kind of a resolution when we hastened away for supper.

Centre County Patrons' Exhibition.

The committee of the Centre County Patrons' Exhibition have completed arrangements with the Bald Eagle Valley, Lewisburg & Tyrone and Bellefonte & Lemont railroads to run excursion trains over their roads for the Patrons' Picnic and Exhibition to be held on top of Nittany Mountain, near Centre Hall, September 14 and 15. Tickets will be sold at Lewisburg, Tyrone and Lock Haven and intermediate points, to Centre Hall on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 13, 14 and 15, which will be good to return on Friday, September 16, at the regular excursion rates. Hacks will be provided for transportation to the picnic grounds. This will give all an opportunity to attend the fourteenth annual Patrons' picnic in Centre county, which will be the largest gathering ever held in the county. For further information apply to Hon. Leonard Rhone, chairman, Centre Hall.

The New Bush Arcade.

The Arcade Building, destroyed by fire in January last, is about to be rebuilt and work has commenced. The new building will be named "The Bush Arcade" and will be larger than the old building, more substantial and much more handsome. It will contain seven separate stores on the first floor with basement store in the rear on Water street, and each store will have plate glass show windows and the rear of each will be lighted with skylights, affording good light to the entire inside of stores. The store floors will be level from front to rear.

The second floor is divided into office rooms which are connecting and lighted with large plate glass windows and with occasional bay windows. These rooms will be of the most pleasing description with separate entrances to each room.

The stair halls are large and well lighted, while the third story is to be divided into "hall" or lodge rooms to suit parties wishing to rent them.

The front of the building will be built of Philadelphia pressed brick laid in red mortar and artistically trimmed with Hummelstown brown stone, Pennsylvania blue marble and Philadelphia peerless bricks of various designs.

The main entrance to the second and third stories on High street is handsome and inviting, and crowned with a tower. In addition to this tower, which is in the centre of the building, the skyline is broken right and left by bold breaks along the cornice and walls.

The windows are so arranged as to form a very picturesque appearance as variety of outline is artistically applied forming a continuous block of building which will add to the appearance of of High street by a permanent and enduring structure. The building when finished will be the handsomest block in Bellefonte and one the owners may feel proud of.

The architect of this building is Mr. P. A. Welsh of 429 Walnut street, Philadelphia, and the owners are to be congratulated upon the selection of a gentleman of such large experience and acknowledged ability as architect.

The entire erection of the Arcade will be under the immediate eye and direction of Mr. Welsh, which is every guarantee of a successful and early completion of this work, which will now go forward as rapidly as may be consistent with perfect workmanship.

The foundation walls were started Tuesday morning, this work already being in the hands of Mr. Harry D. Yerger of this place.

The annex to the new Arcade will make a complete front on Water street, in which there is also an entrance to the second and third floors of the building. In the rear of the Arcade will be an Opera House. The entrance and surroundings are so arranged as to accommodate this building, but the work will not be pressed to completion until the Arcade is finished.

—As Centre county is to have her own exhibition and picnic this year, under the auspices of the Centre County Grangers, and lasting several days, additional interest will attach to that. But likely as much interest as usual will be taken in the Grangers' inter-state exhibition to be held at Williams' Grove, Cumberland county, from August 29 to September 3. It will surpass all former affairs of the kind as various improvements have been made to the grove. Among these is the erection of a new auditorium in which lectures will be delivered three times daily, so people who enjoy being lectured will have enough. Among those who will orate will be Governor Beaver, Hon. Leonard Rhone, Col. Jas. F. Weaver, of Centre Hall, and other specimens of local talent. The lecturers include also such gentlemen of national reputation as Col. A. K. McClure and Charles Emory Smith, of the Philadelphia Times and Press, respectively. There will be half fare excursion rates over the Pennsylvania railroad. Those who expect to occupy tents should arrive on the grounds on the 29th. Many will remain until after the following Sunday.

Saturday Morning Fire.

A barn owned by Mr. Joseph Iddings and located a short distance above Unionville, was destroyed by fire on Saturday morning.

All the contents of the barn were burned except the stock. The destroyed property includes grain and farming implements. There was an insurance on the burned property.

—Bellefonte is thronged with stylish strangers.

TWO HOURS IN THE WOODS.

A Pleasant Visit on a Perfect Day to an Attractive Retreat.

On Monday afternoon exactly a half dozen devoted people started off with packages of eatables to the Buffalo Run railroad to look for the very best grove along the route of that new line. Of course no one will recognize the personnel of this party for we shall give them as Angelie C. Percival, who was escorted by Mr. Winifred Barrington. Miss Angelie is a Pittsburg lady of winning and accomplished manners. The next young lady, Miss Mildred B. Merryvale, was happy in the company of good-looking Adonis W. St. Clair; and the agreeable Miss Lucelie H. Browning, who was attended by Nevercease S. Blarney, may be termed chaperons who looked after the interests of the others to see that they did not pluck too many daisies or wander far from the straight path to the grove.

Everybody who will read this is aware that Monday was a clear, delightful day of balmy breezes and a sky of heaven's own blue. Hence, the walk to the Buffalo Run train was too short. The one passenger coach on the road is just as comfortable and complete as can be found anywhere and the employes of the train are the perfection of kind and considerate attention to passengers. The road sweeps through scenes of industry, highly cultivated fields bearing a wealth of produce and all attractive surroundings. There were other passengers on the train, among whom were Treasurer Charles F. Cook. Prof. James P. Hughes and son, Messrs. George Potter and J. C. Weaver, but inasmuch as they composed a Presbyterian crowd, who professed to be on a similar mission, but didn't seem to know where they were going to or where they would stop; and feasted on nothing but butter-milk—considering that, we say, we will dismiss them by wishing them a happy picnic.

When the picnic ground was reached—which, by the way, was so exceedingly attractive in appearance, that the party did not care to look further—Adonis W. St. Clair and Nevercease Blarney interviewed the near-by husbandman, from whom they learned that water must be transported by wagons. They also looked at the part of the grove beyond the knoll, finding it, in some respects, superior, but too far from the railroad station. Indeed, the sylvan grove near the church is all that can be desired. It is extensive enough for 10,000 people to picnic in at once. The trees are all shapely and of equal distance apart.

Angelie C. Percival and Mildred Merryvale and their respective escorts were thirsty and inquired of a small boy on the front gate if water could be obtained. "Oh, yes," was the reply; "only the cistern is dry." But he was induced, for 5 cents, to trudge down the road and back again with a bucket full of Adam's ale as pure and refreshing as any ever quaffed. The farmer was so good. He brought forth, for six people, four platefuls of rosy apples, of superior flavor. Angelie Percival and Mr. Barrington measured the capacity of the company and thankfully accepted only two platefuls. When they returned the white cloth was spread with the delicious lunch—sandwiches, light cakes, cold meats, bananas, apples, confectionery, etc. The time and place lent zest and relish to the spread and ere it was completed the time warned all present that the trip to the station must be commenced at once. It seemed that the pleasures of the day were so crowded into a brief time that the reflection of them will last for many days. The trip home was only a continuance of pleasure.

An Evening Visit in Milesburg.

On Monday evening of this week a jolly company of a half dozen young people from this place made a visit to the home of the Misses Theresa and Mary Hibler, in Milesburg. It is generally conceded that Miss Theresa Hibler is one of, if not the most accomplished pianists in Centre county, and those who on Monday evening listened enraptured to her selections from Mendleshon, Mozart and Beethoven, which were rendered in a style that would have delighted those inspired composers, could not but arrive at the conclusion that Miss Hibler is a truly accomplished musician. Two very beautiful vocal solos were rendered by Misses Mary Bradley and Kate Stott, which were heartily appreciated by the entire company. Then last, but not least, was a paper-comb solo by Prof. Ed. Cooke, which brought down the house, and all returned home after experiencing a most enjoyable evening.

—One of our exchanges, very prettily says: "The harvest is ended, the crops are in, and now comes the time for annual harvest sermons in the country churches in accordance with the good old time custom. Discourses appropriate to the occasion are preached, the churches are frequently decorated with flowers and evergreens, intertwined with the product of the fields, and the ceremonies having special referance to this season of the year, are solemn and impressive. This is a fitting recognition of the blessings bestowed by the hand of the Great Giver, now that another harvest of golden grain has been gathered to gladden the heart of the husbandman."
